

Arrests begin in Zevallos kidnapping case

FBI officials say they believe they will have destroyed the "Army of God" when they arrest the third suspect in the Aug. 12 kidnapping of Dr. Hector Zevallos, 33, and his wife, Rosalie Jesta, 45, from their Sunset Hill home. They were released unharmed Aug. 20 after being held captive in an abandoned ammunition bunker near Decatur, Ill.

Two brothers from Texas were arrested yesterday on warrants signed Saturday in Alton by U.S. District Judge William Beatty of Granite City charging the two with violating the Hobbs Act and the Travel Act. In custody are Wayne Allen Moore, 18, and his brother, Matthew Maxson Moore, 20, both of New Caney, Tex., near Houston. Wayne was arrested without incident at a friend's home in Springfield, Ill., early Sunday and Matthew was taken into custody later Sunday in Houston, according to the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Both are being held in lieu of $1 million bonds.

Still at large is Don Benny Anderson, 41, of Pearland, Tex., also near Houston. Anderson is described as about 5 feet, 9 inches tall, weighing about 225 pounds and having brown hair and blue eyes. He should be considered armed and dangerous.

The FBI is asking for tips on Anderson's whereabouts and is promising that all tips will be kept confidential.

Anderson was possibly seen in Springfield on Friday, according to Channel 5 news last night.

Joseph Ondrula, agent-in-charge of the FBI Springfield Office, said it was a tip from a citizen which lead to the identification of the three suspects, believed to be the only known members of the Army of God. Ondrula said it is believed that the Zevalloses were kidnapped as a protest against abortions, but "Money was also an issue with them," said U.S. Attorney Frederick Hess of the Southern District of Illinois. "To characterize this as strictly an abortion issue, I think would be inaccurate. This was an extortion. There is more than sufficient probable cause to believe that at the preliminary hearing in Springfield, you will probably hear some detail about that," Hess said.

Ondrula agreed, saying that the kidnappers not only demanded the cessation of abortions, "but also sought money."

Dr. Zevallos operates Hope Clinic for Women, Ltd. in Granite City, where abortions are performed. The FBI has not confirmed published stories that Dr. Zevallos agreed to stop performing abortions in return for the release of himself and his wife, the former Rosalie Jean Kerekovich of Granite City.

Ondrula commended FBI agents throughout the country for their cooperation and work in the case. He said that more than 1,000 leads had been investigated, most leading to dead ends, but that the agents never gave up and followed the latest lead with as much enthusiasm as the others.

Officials of the Madison County sheriff's office are expected to seek state kidnapping charges today from Madison County State's Attorney Don Weber's office. Federal kidnapping charges are not expected because it is not believed the Zevalloses were taken across state lines.

Officials of the sheriff's department were present when the first arrest was made in Springfield, sources said.

Federal warrants charge the three with violating the Hobbs Act, which makes it illegal to interfere with interstate commerce, and the Travel Act, which makes it a crime to use such interstate facilities as telephones to further a federal crime.

Officials say they do not know why the Texas trio, described as "drifters," decided the Zevalloses should be their victims.

Concern about the safety of the Zevalloses developed when neighbors found their home in Country Club Estates on Sunset Hill empty Aug. 12 with the lights and television on, the

Coke oven project halted

The $65 million "C" coke oven building project—praised by former Granite City Steel President James Slack last month as symbolizing National Steel's confidence in the Granite City Steel Division—has been as abruptly stopped as Slack's presidency was.

Steel executives are not expected to comment on the implications of the change before talks with Pittsburgh-based corporate officers arriving here this week. The freeze in construction of the "C" coke oven was first announced in an exclusive Press-Record bulletin

Thursday. At that time, the company had no comment.

In a brief statement issued Friday morning through the company's public relations department, Granite City Steel Vice President Edward L. Sambuchi cited poor business conditions as the reason for the halt. He did not elaborate further on National Steel's decision, which, at least temporarily, plugs the flow of on-going capital improvements here.

The rebuilding of Battery "C," with its anticipated capacity to produce 260,000 tons of coke per year from coal, was to have followed the already completed $35 million reconstruction of Battery "A" and the $42 million Battery "B" project.

"This delay is not a cancellation. We are continuing to study the situation and cannot speculate at this time how long the delay will be," Sambuchi stated. He included the construction moratorium in among "a number of measures" the company will take to offset the business climate.

Sambuchi told the audience attending the company's Top Management Night affair Thursday that National Steel's $87 million loss here this year could have been higher, if stringent measures had not been taken to keep costs down.

A rush of publicity had heralded the project, expected to pump $16 million into the local economy via the construction industry. The job promised to employ about 400 construction workers at its peak. Bob Weiss, business manager of Bricklayers Local 85, said he was informed about 5 p.m. Tuesday that construction would be stopped.

According to Weiss, reconstruction of Another steel pay proposal rejected

Rejecting the recommendation of their national leaders, United Steelworkers local presidents voted 231 to 141 Friday in Pittsburgh against a 45-month contract proposal.

Ten percent wage "givebacks" were included, along with added funds for unemployed steelworkers' supplemental benefits. Future raises would have been scheduled, and workers would have shared in company profits.

Both labor and management

Mixed reactions to shutdown

By NANCY WEIL of the Press-Record

Reaction here to the announcement that National Steel Corp. officials have ordered the halt of construction at the "C" Coke Oven Battery at Granite City Steel has ranged from "borderline panic" to guarded optimism.

While there is apparent disagreement and confusion as to why the halt was ordered, there is agreement as to the impact of the order on local businesses involved in construction and related areas.

Daniel Partney, vice president of Granite Sheet Metal, a subcontractor of the project, said that his firm understands all construction at GCS has been "put on hold" for 12 to 18 months, unless the economic climate in the steel industry changes.

"It affects employment in the entire area," Partney noted, adding that it certainly would not help the high unemployment rate here, particularly in the construction and steel industries. Although labor officials and management personnel involved in the steel industry here were attending a national conference in Pittsburgh, Pa., others in the construction business agreed with Partney.

"It's going to have a strong impact," said Bob Weiss, business manager and president of Bricklayers Local 85 of Southwest Illinois in Edwardsville.

"We've really had a bad year and half anyway, so far as construction is concerned," he said, adding that the industry generally slows down in preparation for the winter months.

"This construction of the 'C' battery was something that came at an ideal time," he said.

Weiss predicted that 300 to 350 workers will be affected by the decision to halt construction and he said that figure includes 160 bricklayers who were scheduled to work on the project, beginning in February or March.

During construction of the "A" and "B" batteries, bricklayers worked about six months, he added.

Four phases are involved in construction of such a battery, starting with the demolition of the old battery. Then, ground preparation begins, including foundation supports and laying of the foundation. The next step involves iron workers, who construct a shed over the site, and the final phase involves the bricklayers.

The bricklayers who were to work on the project probably will not find other jobs, he said. So no construction will, however, continue on the "C" battery.

Rumors were circulating here that GCS lost financial backing from its underwriter for the project because of huge losses in the division.

That rumor, however, remains unsubstantiated.

Weiss, when asked if he knew why the construction was stopped, said that

Thanksgiving services

Area residents are being invited to attend Thanksgiving services planned by the Quad-City Ministerial Association, to be conducted at two separate locations this year, according to Sister Geraldine, president of the association.

Sister Geraldine, who also is director of Pastoral Care at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, said the first service will be Tuesday, Nov. 23, at St. John United Church of Christ, 2601 Nameoki Road, pastored by the Rev. Allen Heller.

The Rev. Linda Shugert, minister at Mitchell United Presbyterian Church, will deliver the 7 p.m. sermon. A second service will be on Wednesday, Nov. 24, at the Madison Presbyterian Church, Third and Ewing streets, Madison, where the Rev. Charlotte Zachary serves as minister.

The Rev. Alfred Johnson, pastor of Bethel A.M.E. Church, will be the guest speaker at the 7 o'clock evening worship hour.

Offerings from both services have been designated for the Mobile Meals Program.

All schools and state and federal offices will be closed this Thursday and Friday.

Indict Barton in bribery case

James Barton, county supervisor of assessments, was indicted Thursday by a Madison County grand jury on two felony counts of bribery and one felony count of conspiracy to commit bribery. He entered a plea of innocent in arraignment proceedings later Thursday.

Circuit Judge A.A. Mateosian set bond at $25,000 and Barton was released on own recognizance. He was at work in the supervisor of assessments office Friday morning. He told a reporter Friday that he has no intention of resigning or taking a leave of absence.

Barton declined to comment about the indictment, but did say he has retained Attorney Merle Bassett, of Wood River. The trial is set for Jan. 3, 1983, in Edwardsville.

The first bribery count returned against Barton alleges that he gave $800 to Walter "Shang" Greenhouse of Granite City, president of the Metro-East Sanitary District and a member of the Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals, to cause Greenhouse to approve installation of a culvert in a sanitary district canal and to approve a special use permit sought by Nameoki Township landowner William Nichols.

Nichols has told the grand jury, under

News notes

A public Policy Committee meeting of the Granite City School Board at 7 p.m. Tuesday will precede a 7:30 meeting of the full board. The board plans to consider cost reductions to end second-year tax borrowing.

Nadine Gardner, also known as Joyce Walton, 18, of Springfield, Ill., was sentenced to six months in prison last week by Chief Criminal Judge Philip J. Rarick, who said he sent the sentence to deter others from prostitution in Madison County. She pleaded guilty to soliciting agents at a truck stop on I-70 east of Highland.

Unofficial results of voting by Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville students last week showed 387 favor the present four-quarter academic system and 226 would prefer a change to a trimester program.

the battery was to have taken four different phases - breaking down the old ovens, preparing the ground for the new ovens, constructing a shed to cover the area, and finally the laying of bricks. He said the first phase had been completed and the foundation area for the new coke battery was being prepared when the surprise announcement came.

In Friday's statement, Sambuchi stressed that the company is "temporarily delaying construction projects that can be delayed for a period of time." This delay is NOT a cancellation. We are continuing to study the situation and cannot speculate at this time how long the delay will be.

Weis estimated a possible 12 to 18 month wait before construction resumes. "They have not said they are not going to continue building (the battery)," Weis said of communications with the steel company. Sources close to the situation hinted that National Steel probably is not putting a time limit on the freeze so they may resume construction at any time the economy dictates.

Remaining on the site now are about 30 workers. Five employees represent supervisory personnel from the general contractor, Serstel Corp. of Pittsburgh. About 25 other workers are employed by W. H. Wolfe & Co., doing excavation work for the "C" battery foundation.

Although it is uncertain how long the delay will be, Alan Richardson, executive vice president, Tri-Cities Chamber of Commerce, said the area's low morale and economy are likely to suffer further. "From a moral standpoint, things are already tough as it is," he said.

The Chamber director, who is involved in the economic development programs here, said loss of the construction jobs will be compounded by the "multiplier effect" of jobs that might have been created in the community by the coke oven project. During the peak construction period, when 400 workers would have been employed, perhaps as many as 700 total jobs would have been generated by the project, he said.

"When the area is depressed as it is," Richardson said, "It's kind of a hard time for a lot of local people." Jobs had been the central issue for several, included Richardson, who appeared at the Illinois Pollution Control hearing and spoke in favor of the coke building project in late October.

The Chamber director is not sure what motives are behind the steel company's change of plans, but said the least of his fears is a pull-out by National Steel, which is trying to sell its large Weirton, W. Va., plant to the employees.

"They've got too much of a commitment here," Richardson said. He speculated that National Steel is just experiencing "terribly difficult conditions."

A shortage of coke has long been cited by Granite City Steel officials as slowing down the entire steelmaking process here. Coke is imported from other plants, when available, while raw steel is brought in from other facilities for processing here, since the basic oxygen furnace and hot roll departments have the capacity for processing steel much faster than it could be produced by the two local blast furnaces during peak periods.

The process requires coke in the conversion of iron ore into iron, which then is purified into steel.

a grant of immunity from prosecution, that he gave $1,000 earlier this year to accept a total of $1,000 from Nichols, knowing that it is illegal under Illinois law to offer money to a public official to influence his action. It also is illegal for a public official to accept such funds.

The bribery charges, which are a Class Two felony, carry a maximum penalty of 15 years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine.

The conspiracy to commit bribery indictment says that Barton agreed with Nichols in the commission of bribery by accepting $1,000 and tendering $500 to Greathouse.

Greathouse claims he returned the money to Barton the next day. Some of the money went to the campaign of Jerome "Jerry" Greening, incumbent Democratic state treasurer, who lost his bid for secretary of state in the November election.

State's Attorney Don Weber told the Press-Record Friday that the investigation will continue and added "one more thing with respect to Greathouse," is that Greathouse may not be out of the woods. The possibility that Greathouse could be indicted should not be overlooked, Weber said.

Weber had said last week that an indictment against Greathouse was unlikely.

Greathouse testified for about 45 minutes before the grand jury Thursday. "He answered all the questions I asked him," Weber said, giving no hint of why the state's attorney's office has seemingly changed its attitude toward Greathouse.

Greathouse told the Press-Record Friday, "This is very embarrassing. I testified yesterday. There is no way I would have taken any of that money." He declined further comment "because my attorney has advised me not to."

Nichols also testified Thursday, before the grand jury, but not to the same length as several weeks ago, when he was questioned for nearly an hour.

In June, Nichols sought a special use permit for mining topsoil on a 100-acre tract on Bend Road in Nameoki Township.

That request was denied on a 7-0 vote by the zoning board after an on-site hearing June 29. The Madison County board later affirmed the zoning board's recommendation with a 21-1 vote against the permit.

The Book of Mormon donated to library

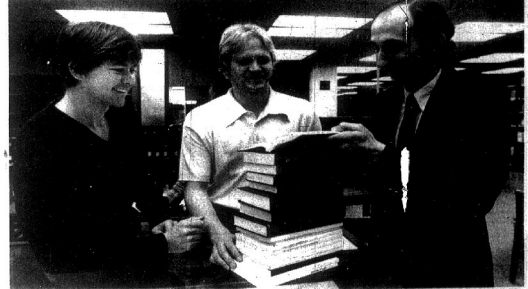

The Deseret Club, a Mormon student association on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, has presented Lovejoy Library with copies of the Book of Mormon in 21 different languages, in recognition of the University's 25th anniversary.

"The Book of Mormon is a history book which basically covers the period from 600 B.C. to 400 A.D.," Stanley B. Kimball, professor of historical studies at the university and faculty adviser of the Deseret Club, said.

"Mormon, a new world prophet for the church, was the chief and last editor of this 1,000-year-old record," Kimball stated, adding that the Mormons do not consider the book a substitute for the Bible, but a second testimony of Jesus Christ.

The presentation included translations of the book in Russian, Czech, Hebrew, Hungarian, Bulgarian, Romanian, Polish, Arabic, Croatian, Indonesian, Korean, Calchiquel, Thai, Kekchi, Vietnamese, Aymara, Navajo, Fijian, Chinese, Catalan, and Greek.

The student organization had given the library other translations of the Book of Mormon, as well as copies of such Mormon books as the Arrest 2nd brother for bank holdup

ST. JOHN LUTHERAN SERVICES WEDNESDAY
 Thanksgiving Eve services of praise will be conducted at St. John Lutheran Church, St. Clair and Dale avenues, Wednesday, at 7 p.m.

Six Thanksgiving food baskets were prepared and distributed to needy families last weekend and 25 more baskets will be prepared for distribution at Christmastime, church members will be told.

Preaching Wednesday evening will be Pastor Samuel Boda on John 1:18 and Ephesians 5:20; the theme will be "How can God continue to give so much?"

The church choir will sing "Come, Ye Thankful People, Come." At the organ will be Miss Debbie Gebhardt of the University of Illinois, Champaign. The public is being invited to this special service of Thanksgiving.

The congregation will open a new church year next Sunday, the first Sunday in Advent, by celebrating a Loyalty Sunday.

The second of two brothers sought for the Aug. 20 Marine national bank robbery was arrested Thursday at his Mount Vernon home. He is William Thomas Holt, 22, a former Granite Cityan.

Taken to the Madison County jail after his arrest, Holt was charged with armed robbery and aggravated assault. Bond was set at $102,000.

He and Hal Dee Holt, 30, who was arrested in Amarillo, Tex., Nov. 12, are said to have utilized in the robbery an auto they took near here from a Trenton couple.

In addition to the two state charges, William Holt was named in a federal grand jury indictment Thursday at East St. Louis for the bank robbery.

Hal Holt, of Chicago, also a former Granite Cityan, was captured in Texas after a standoff with police. Along with the Marine bank robbery, he was sought as a suspect in Illinois and Arizona post office robberies and as a parole violator.

Extradition is being sought so that the elder Holt can stand trial in Illinois.

The two were accused of abducting Clarence Barge, 65, and his wife, Dorothy, 64, of Trenton while they were fishing with the couple's nine-year-old great-niece north of Highland.

The victims were led into a wooded area, where their feet and hands were bound. Their car then was stolen and used as the get-away vehicle.

Almost $10,000 was obtained from the bank.

William Holt's arrest Thursday was by FBI agents, Madison County sheriff deputies and Mount Vernon police.

Steel pay

spokesmen said they now believe an Aug. 1, 1983, strike is a definite possibility. Bargaining will resume in May.

Buddy Davis, district director, who supported the newly-defeated plan, pointed out Saturday that steelmakers "are experiencing cash-flow problems, and some may have financial difficulty before our present contract expires Aug. 1."

"Several companies told us at Pittsburgh that they may be willing to take a picket line in August. This was our last chance to do something about it."

Presidents of union locals also had turned down a renegotiated contract and extension in July 1982.

As was the case in the summer, the November rejection will lead to raises, this time related to cost-of-living increases. In contrast, approval Friday would have delayed until next August a 20-cent hourly COL raise.

Steelmakers are operating at about 40 percent of their capacity, charging customers low prices due to intense competition for dwindling steel orders, and paying workers more than they can afford to pay, they assert.

There is speculation that orders will begin to pick up in early 1983 as firms buy and stockpile steel in anticipation of a strike. Then, whether or not a strike occurs, there would be almost no late-summer purchasing due to the stockpiles.

The plan rejected Friday would have reduced current hourly employment cost, estimated at $23.40 an hour including fringe benefits, by $1.50 an hour and then 75 cents an hour, both during the first contract year.

There would have been a pay increase in the second year, rising to a level $1 an hour lower than the present hourly average base-pay of $13.75. In the third year, hourly pay would have been 50 cents under the present average.

The industry would have agreed to a one-year moratorium on plant shut-downs, a profit-sharing plan and increased contributions to the funds that pay benefits to jobless steelworkers.

The proposal would have eliminated from contract coverage 9,000 workers not directly involved in steelmaking, such as those in fabrication, iron ore mining and warehousing.

About a third of the present members are on layoffs.

Latest figures show at least 157,481 production workers and 11,664 salaried employees have been laid off, with another 22,451 production and 3,113 salaried personnel working short weeks.

"The decision was made in a democratic way and I don't fault it," Steelworkers International President Lloyd McBride, formerly of this district, commented after the vote.

"But I was convinced that the proposal was essential. Obviously, I'm disappointed."

"It would have satisfied the short-term cash-flow situation faced by the industry. And it contained a schedule for restoration of benefits that would have brought us back—at the end of the new contract—to the point we are at now in employment costs."

The last nationwide steel strike occurred in 1959 and lasted 116 days.

With present production at a level unprecedented in the postwar era, some firms are currently losing money each day they operate. They might welcome a strike-imposed shutdown until their costs and income more nearly balance, observers said during the weekend.

The existing contract covers the period of Aug. 1, 1980, through July 31, 1983. The plans drawn up tentatively and then defeated by the workers would have had a July 31, 1986, expiration date.

For many years, a no-strike agreement remained in effect during strikes was viewed as a way to avoid cyclical stockpiling patterns that often enabled foreign producers to "get a foot in the door" to serve American customers.

At the time it was instituted, the experimental clause that eliminated strikes was viewed as a way to avoid cyclical stockpiling patterns that often enabled foreign producers to "get a foot in the door" to serve American customers.

Steel imports now have claimed about a third of the total U.S. market and are blamed—along with inflation and the recession—for contributing to the "depression" gripping the domestic steel industry.

The 20 members of the Steelworkers' executive board voted unanimously Thursday to recommend approval of the latest proposal, developed during talks in early November.

Many of the local leaders who assembled Friday said they had come prepared to make concessions to aid laid-off workers and to help the industry. But, they added, the requested cutbacks were too sweeping.

Fred McBride said he tried to persuade the industry's negotiators not to insist on so many concessions. "But they said these were things they had to have," McBride related.

He also asked employees to act affirmatively on givebacks, but could not persuade a majority of the voting group.

J. Bruce Johnston of United States Steel, chief negotiator for the "big eight" firms, made no statement on the proposal.

The group included National Steel Corp., which acquired Granite City Steel in 1971.

Also represented in the talks were Bethlehem, Jones & Laughlin, Republic, Inland, Armco and Allegheny-Ludwig. There have been predictions that some major steelmakers will face bankruptcy in 1983, but no specific firms have been named.

McBride summed up, "I would have preferred that we had settled it now."

"Based on what I know about the problems of the industry and the problems of our membership, I recommended the package, our officers recommended it, and our executive board recommended it unanimously."

"It seems probable that some steel customers will begin stockpiling their supplies, boosting the demand for steel and temporarily raising employment."

"Then, if we settle, the stockpile will be used up and the unemployment that we would have dealt with now will have to be dealt with then."

Arrests begin

doors unlocked and the couple's cars in the garage. It appeared the couple had been eating dinner while watching television when they were abducted.

They have not lived in their home, except for a few days, since their release, leading to speculation that they were concerned about their safety while the Army of God members remained at large.

Dr. Zevallos has declined to discuss his treatment while in captivity, but friends have said that the Zevalloses briefly mentioned being threatened and having reason to fear for their lives during the ordeal.

They were released unharmed eight days after being seized. Authorities said the couple was released in the parking lot of the Holiday Inn at Edwardsville before dawn Aug. 20 and they walked the approximately half mile to their home before calling authorities.

The FBI says neither Moore brother has a police record, but Anderson is wanted on felony warrants in Dallas and Harris County in Texas. Channel 5 describes those warrants as being for "several white collar crime issues."

Hearings will be conducted today before U.S. magistrates in Springfield and Texas to determine whether the Moore brothers should be taken to East St. Louis to stand trial and Wayne Moore is expected to be arraigned in St. Louis early this week.

CANNABIS FOUND

ARRESTS MADE
 Lance Hutchinson, 16, of 2731 Warren Ave., was arrested Saturday at 11:30 p.m. after he allegedly was seen smoking marijuana with a juvenile friend at Keith's Lounge, 2701 Washington Ave.

The two were observed walking east on Twenty-Seventh Street and Washington Avenue and allegedly ran behind ABC Moving Warehouse when police arrived. Hutchinson was caught and found to have a marijuana cigarette in a cigarette package in his pocket. He was charged with possession of cannabis.

The juvenile was detained and released to the Illinois Youth Center at Peru, Marquette.

Pascal Hall counselor a 'mild mannered man of steel'

By DEBORAH WILLIAMS
St. Elizabeth

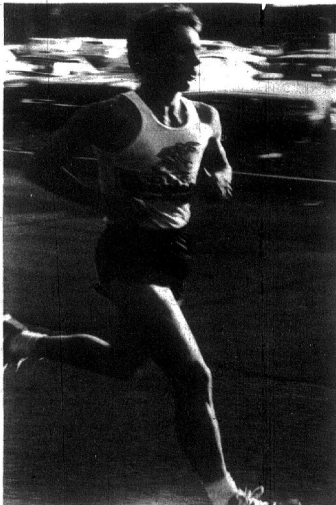

Steve Weeks is an addict, but not the kind thought of by most people. Steve has a "positive addiction" to his work and to physical fitness. "My work and my physical activities have very positive qualities," said Weeks. "They are the type of things that build you socially, physically and mentally."

Weeks, who is a chemical dependency counselor-technician, interviews, counsels and tests alcohol and drug dependent patients admitted to Talbot Hall, the chemical dependency unit at St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City.

"Patients I work with come in with negative addictions either mentally, socially or spiritually," he said. "Just like I devote 40 hours a week to my job and 20 to 30 hours a week to training, these people devote the same amount of time each week to drinking. And what are they going to replace this with?"

"It isn't the activity I'm trying to get people to look at. It's the challenges, the disciplines..."

In his spare time, Weeks trains for the next triathlon-type event, wherever it may be held. The triathlon is a race combining three sports — swimming, biking and running. The latest event in which Steve participated was the "Iron Man World Triathlon Championship" Oct. 9 in Kailua-Kona, STEVE WEEKS, Pascal Hall counselor at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, trains for his role as a 'man of steel' in international endurance contests.

Hawaii. This was his third attempt.

In this event, contestants must first swim through 2.4 miles of ocean waters. When asked if sharks or other marine life worried him during the swim, Weeks said, "There aren't any sharks, or at least they don't tell us about them."

"The real problem is the Portuguese Man-of-War (a type of jellyfish). They attach to your body while you're swimming and sting you," said Weeks. "I've been stung 12 times myself. It hurts, but after you pull them off, you just try to concentrate on finishing the swim and keep going."

Next, participants bike 112 miles across hilly terrain and desert areas in temperatures well over 100 degrees, with winds up to 40 miles-per-hour.

"The bike course is really tough," said Weeks. "Doug Pohlman, a friend of mine from Alton who trained with me and was also entered in this event, is an avid biker. He decided to ride through the bike course the day before to get the feel of it. When he got back he almost collapsed. It's a good thing he biked it ahead of time to get the true feeling of the area and the course."

The final section of the course is a grueling 26.2 mile run. "I wanted to make good in this part of the event," Weeks said. "So I pushed hard and ended up dehydrated and overheated."

"I didn't say anything to anyone. I took some aspirin and poured water over my head to try and cool off. But after six miles, the water which had drained into my shoes was causing blisters. I stopped and begged some socks from a woman, who gave me hers right off her feet. With her help, I was able to push on."

"I reached the turn-around point before dark, which was ahead of the schedule I had set for myself. I was overheated and concerned about passing out. I never pushed myself this hard, and I've been in a lot of these races," Weeks explained. The "Iron Man" event attracted 50 entrants. Weeks finished 230th with a time of 12 hours and 14 minutes — three hours and six minutes behind the winner Dave Scott from California.

"My goal was to break 13 hours," Weeks said. "I'm really happy with that."

A resident of Alton, Weeks has been married for seven years to Elizabeth Bauer. "At times she thinks the whole thing is nuts," he said, "and at other times she is very supportive because she knows it means a lot to me. She really puts up with a lot."

Weeks became interested in physical fitness while getting his bachelor of science degree in recreation and education from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

"One day while attending classes," he said, "I noticed that I was getting heavy and couldn't keep up with some of my friends. It was then that I decided to do something about it." And do something he did. Weeks now averages 250 miles per week biking throughout the state, six to seven miles per week swimming at the Alton YMCA and 50 miles per week running within the Alton area.

"Sometimes I run either to or from work, which is about 18 mile," he noted.

Participation in this type of sporting activity takes not only a great deal of time and effort but also a large sum of money to cover expenses. "The trip to Hawaii itself cost somewhere between $1,200 and $1,400. But before that, there are a lot of other expenses," said Weeks. "You need to pay for club memberships where you can swim and lift weights. You need a good bike, biking equipment, shoes and other equipment. For myself, it cost more than $2,000 for equipment last year and more than $3,000 the year before."

This year's expenses were offset through the help of the Timballo Palazzo Restaurant in Alton, which gave a fund-raising dinner for Weeks, and through a donation from the Lewis and Clark Lung Association. "I may participate in another triathlon if I can get a sponsor to back me all the way," he explained. "I plan to do the 'Escape from Alcatraz,' where you swim in from the island which is 1.5 miles of treacherous waters. But I know I can do it," he added.

In about a year, Weeks plans to spend some of his training energies toward his marriage and work.

"There is a life after the triathlon," said Weeks. "For some, there isn't and that's a pretty blind outlook. As for myself, I would like to start a family."

Weeks summed up his feelings about his "positive addiction" by saying, "For people who want to get involved in challenges, don't listen to those who say you can't. But don't expect things to happen overnight. My first run was around the block, and then I came in and threw up. Set goals and stick to them. Don't let people get in the way of these goals."

Bankers optimistic of economic growth

The prime interest rate will drop to 10 percent in a few months, if the Federal Reserve continues its policy of tight money supply.

That was the prediction made Thursday by the former chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors, Murray L. Weidenbaum, speaking in St. Louis before the 36th annual Center for Bank Correspondents Conference. Weidenbaum said, "It is clear that the recent reductions in interest rates surely are a big plus for future business prospects. Those rates have come down in earnest." He added, "The prime rate declined from 16 1/2 percent in early July to the current 12 percent, and I expect that the prime rate will get down to 10 percent in the next few months."

The Mallinckrodt Distinguished University professor of economics from Washington University also praised the Federal Reserve for reducing inflation.

At the conference, some 900 bankers from throughout the Midwest gave their economic and financial forecasts for 1983.

Asked how they would rate President Reagan's record to date, in terms of decisiveness and strong leadership, 87.9 percent gave the president an "excellent to good" rating, while 9.8 percent answered fair or poor.

In terms of reducing government spending, 30.5 percent said that President Reagan has done a "good" job while 4.9 percent indicated "excellent," 39.9 percent indicated "fair" and 22.1 percent answered "poor."

The majority, 60.4 percent, said President Reagan has done an excellent to good job of halting the economy.

On the topic of business conditions, nearly 80 percent said conditions will be better by the end of the second quarter of 1983. On economic and financial matters, bankers believe that by this time next year, the prime rate will be in the 10 to 13 percent range; unemployment will be in the 9 to 10 percent range, and the Dow Jones will be in the 950 to 1,350 range.

More than 80 percent of the bankers surveyed felt that 1983 housing starts will be up over 1982 levels, and that the price of gold will be in the $400 to $550 range.

An overwhelming majority, 82.9 percent, favor reducing the growth rate of Social Security benefits, while nearly 60 percent do not favor a cut in benefits from current levels.

Concerning their own industry, the bankers felt that bank earnings in general in 1983 will be up slightly over 1982.

Adoption Week in underway

Governor James R. Thompson has proclaimed this week as Adoption Week in Illinois to recognize the thousands of families that have been created in the state through adoption.

"In Fiscal Year 1982, adoption of children under state guardianship reached a five-year high in Illinois as 97 youngsters were placed for adoption," Thompson said. "This was a 43 percent increase over the previous year."

The governor said the adoption pace continues to accelerate, noting that the Department of Children and Family Services recorded a 27 percent increase in adoptive placement from July through September of this year, compared with the first quarter of the last fiscal year.

"Just as significant, most of the children adopted were 'special needs' youngsters," the governor said. "These are children whose age, racial backgrounds, handicaps or other needs make adoptive placement more difficult."

Since 1979, when less than 500 children under state guardianship were adopted, the Thompson administration has taken several steps to boost adoptions. These include establishing a toll-free adoption hotline, revamping state laws governing termination of rights of natural parents who abuse or neglect their children, and launching a multi-media public awareness campaign to recruit adoptive parents for "special needs" children.

In addition, DCF, in cooperation with 21 black pastors from throughout the state, established the "One Church, One Child" project to recruit at least one new adoptive family from among the members of each participating church, said DCF Director Gregory L. Coler. In selecting the week of Nov. 21-27 as Adoption Week, Thompson noted that the period was appropriate because it is Thanksgiving Week, "a time when families traditionally get together." The dates also coincide with the North American Council on Adoptable Children's nationwide observance of Adoption Week 1982.

Coler urged families interested in learning more about adoption of minority youngsters, school-age children of all races, and handicapped children to call the Adoption Information Center of Illinois at 1-800-572-2390.

GC men are robbed

Between $120 and $130 was taken in an armed robbery last week at the Clark Service Station at 960 St. Louis Road, Collinsville.

Two robbers, one armed with a sawed-off shotgun, entered the station about 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, according to attendant Gregory Grooms, 22, of Granite City. After obtaining the money, they fled on foot.

The robber with the gun was quoted as telling Grooms at one point, "I'm going to blow you away," when Grooms gave him the money in his pocket and said there was no more.

Station Manager Robert Hignauer, 24, of Granite City, who was called to the scene, said a man matching the description of one of the robbers had been in the station at 2 or 3 p.m. Wednesday.

Grooms said he was coming out of the storeroom when he was confronted by the robber with the gun. The attendant gave the robber the money in his pocket and later gave him a money changer, police said.

The armed man, as he left the station building, reportedly pointed a gun at a witness and told him not to follow. The robbers were seen fleeing to the south behind a home.

Officers searched the area unsuccessfully.

The armed man was described as a white male, 5 feet 8 inches to 5 feet 10 inches tall, about 18 years old, with blond shoulder-length hair and a partial beard.

The second robber was described as a white male, about 16 years old 5 feet 8 inches to 5 feet 10 inches tall, with dark brown collar-length hair.

Melchior Toczek at 9 a.m. Wednesday from Lahey-Sedlack to St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, 10th Street and Alton Avenue, Madison, for a 9:30 a.m. mass. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery, Edwardsville Township.

$31,000 grant to promote port

A $31,000 grant from the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs (DCCA) has been awarded to the Tri-City Regional Port District to fund promotions aimed at spurring economic development within the region.

The money will cover the costs of producing informational packets detailing the services and facilities the port provides to importers and exporters.

"The district offers many advantages to those who ship and receive goods from overseas," said Peter B. Fox, DCCA director. "It is navigable year-around, it affords access to the nation's second largest railroad center and it currently is one of the only four Foreign Trade Zones nationwide. "It will benefit Illinois, the district and Midwest importers to promote these attributes," Fox added.

The money will come from DCCA's International Business Division port promotion allocation.

The grant will support two promotional projects with the bulk of the money, $24,000, used to fund production of a color brochure outlining port services.

The remaining money, $6,000, will finance production of Foreign Trade Zone information packets which will include fact sheets on Foreign Trade Zone incentives detailed with graphs and photos.

Foreign Trade Zones are U.S.

Customs-free areas where foreign goods may be imported for storage, display, manufacture or assembly without the importer having to pay any import duties.

The goods may be assembled with domestic parts and then be sent out of the country with no duties imposed, or they may be imported into the United States with a duty waived on the whole product if only the imported parts, whichever is lower.

"The two designated Foreign Trade Zones in Illinois, at Granite City and Chicago, can save Illinois exporters a great deal of money," Fox said. "This information packet will describe what businesses could use these zones to their advantage."

Corp. decided to withdraw financial support of the remodeling here because of huge losses at GCS.

The announcement to cease construction of the "C" battery came on the heels of positive statements made to area newspapers by top National Steel officials that the remodeling indicated a firm commitment by National Steel Corp. to GCS.

The GCS Management Club conducted its annual Top Management Night Thursday at the Sunset Hills Country Club in Edwardsville, where nine high echelon executives reported 1982 summaries of their areas and provided outlooks for 1983.

Top management seemed optimistic in comments made to the sellout crowd and predicted that GCS will continue working to improve employee relations and reduction of costs.

Edward Sambuchi, vice president and general manager of GCS, commended the crowd for helping to minimize the division's losses and added that the estimated $7.5 million lost by GCS could have been much greater had it not been for cost reductions and "other stringent measures" to hold spending to a minimum.

Dave Chapfield, quality control president, said of GCS, "We intend to be the number one supplier for all our customers."

Steeler grapplers looking to 'do it again'

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Any team would be hard pressed to match the success of the Granite City North wrestling team last season.

"The Steelers were 20-0 in dual meets last season, and in those dual meets their wrestlers compiled a record of 143-23-4.

If that wasn't enough, the Steelers ended Bill "Red" Schmitt's and Granite City South's dominance of the IHSA district championship. Schmitt's teams won 24 straight regional titles before the Steelers broke it last season.

Walt Whitaker, the only wrestling coach North has had, knows it will be difficult for the Steelers to match last year. He also knows the Steelers could do it again.

"This team is capable of doing it again. The thing is whether they believe it or not. The people who are coming back know they can do it, but the question is if we have the depth up and down the line-up to do it," Whitaker said.

Gone from the squad are Steve Smith, who placed third at state last season at 119, and Scott Corey, who was undefeated during the regular season at 155.

However, the Steelers have many strong wrestlers returning. Colin Davis, a senior who qualified for state at 98 and was 36-6 during the season, will probably start at 105. Senior Rod Unger, who also qualified and had a 34-5-1 record at 132, will most likely stay at 132 this year.

Junior Greg Nemeth, 30-5-1 at 105 last year, will wrestle at 112. Mark Whitaker, a sophomore who wrestled at 126 last year, moves up to 138. Senior Monte Kessler, 25-13 last year at 145, should return to that weight. John Morris is a senior letterman wrestling at 185 this year.

Other wrestlers who will help North this year are seniors Bruce Weidel (145-155), Bill Zimmer (167), John Kramer (155), and Rick Rash (119-126). Juniors include Dan Whitell at 145, Todd Sine at 119-126, Mike Novich at 126, and James Eads. Sophomore Steve Knogl should also see some action at 145.

"We've got pretty good depth on this team," Whitaker said. "It's going to be hard to match last year's record because there's going to be much better balance among all the schools."

Civic Memorial, Roxana, South, Belleville West are going to be good, and Cahokia has some good people coming back," he said.

"We're inexperienced at a couple of areas, but an asset for us we have quite a bit of depth and some good people with a lot of experience. Davis and Unger could be as good as Smith and Corey were last year," Whitaker said.

Warrior matmen inexperienced

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

Last season was an unusual season for Bill "Red" Schmitt and the Granite City South wrestling team.

Schmitt, the dean of area wrestling coaches, led the Warriors to 24 straight IHSA district championships, but the string was finally broken last season by Granite City North.

Last year's loss to the Steelers could be contributed to two things—the strength of the Steelers and the inexperience of the Warriors. Despite nine returning lettermen, the Warriors will still have an inexperienced team.

"We're at about the same shape we were at last year at this time," Schmitt said. "We have the potential to have a bad year. We have some important people missing this year and only two wrestlers with winning records returning."

The top wrestlers for the Warriors this year should be seniors Jon Frangoulis, who was 29-6 at the 155 lb. weight class last season and Dave Brown, who was 25-10-2 at 185.

Both wrestlers advanced to the state finals last year. Frangoulis made it to the quarter-finals while Brown was eliminated in the first round.

Frangoulis may wrestle at 167 this season, but the status of any of the Warriors is uncertain so far.

Junior Mark Dowdy, who advanced to the sectionals with a 6-9 record at 145, also returns for the Warriors. Other returning wrestlers include Joe DeShon, a senior who was 5-12-2 last season at 126, Jeff Hoes, who was 1-10-1 at 126, Sean McGovern, 8-12 at 98, Jeff Cotten, who will wrestle at 96 this year, Darren Hasty, 1-9 at 109 last year, and Jason Wagner, 0-4 at 112.

Schmitt chose not to speculate on who else would be wrestling for the Warriors or at which weights the majority of those wrestlers will start the season.

"It remains to be seen how much our experience from last year will help us," Schmitt said. "We could have some freshmen that ought to do well this season. We have a lot of holes which we have to fill and we lost some people who we expected to be out this year."

In whole, this season could be the second step of the Warriors' rebuilding process. "We don't have the Perkins or the Garland or the Nemeths we've had in the past. We have a bunch of younger wrestlers who have a lot to learn. Our freshmen last year didn't have the strength at 112, 119 and 126."

Schmitt expects North, Roxana and Civic Memorial (Bethalto) to have the best wrestling teams in the area this year. He also expects both Belleville East and West to be among the top teams.

GOING FOR THE PIN. Granite City South's Jon Frangoulis tries to pin teammate Lester White during one of the Warriors' workouts.

South coach Bill Schmitt expects this season to be another tough season for the Warriors.

Trojans rebuilding

By A.L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

Madison High School basketball coach, Larry Graham is in a position this season he really doesn't care to be in.

Last year, the Trojans were a talented team, top heavy with upperclassmen. That made for a strong team in 1981, but it makes for a weaker team in 1982.

"This is going to be a rebuilding year for us," Graham said. "We've got some talent and we're going to win some games, but it might take a while," he said.

Leading the way for the Trojans this year will be two returning lettermen from last year's squad: John Hughes, a 5-foot-7 senior guard and Keith Wyatt, a 6-foot-4 senior center.

During last year's 21-6 campaign, Hughes averaged more than six points per game, while Wyatt averaged two points.

As for who'll be the other starters, Graham is still not decided.

"We've got some time yet to figure things out," Graham said. "We might go half the season before we find out who will play the best at which position."

Some of the possible candidates Graham might use to fill out his starting line up include 5-foot-10 senior forwards Robert Bishop and Leroy Pryor, senior guards Michael Young and Victor Valentine. All four possibilities averaged two or less points per game last year.

Graham mentioned that Von Dee Bradley at 6-foot-1 will see some action behind Wyatt at center.

"I'm looking for a winning combination in these guys," Graham said. "It looks like they have the desire to win, my job is to assemble that talent into a winning team," Graham said.

Graham said Madison has established a winning attitude which both helps and hinders his squad.

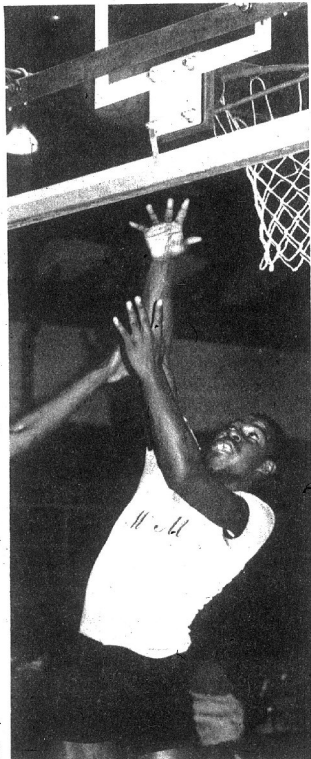

"We established a winning tradition which helps attract athletes. But also," Graham said, "that winning tradition also boosts the opposition. They're always up for us. And that can really be tough," he said.

Another problem Graham sees is coming on the horizon. That problem is declining enrollment.

Currently, Madison's enrollment is approximately 425 students — or about 200 eligible athletes.

"Things may be getting lean, but I think we've got a fine team with our enrollment."

To equalize Madison's shortcomings, Graham said his team will concentrate on constant defensive pressure, speed and quickness.

GOING HIGH. Keith Wyatt of the Madison High School basketball team goes up for this basket during a practice last Wednesday at the Trojan basketball camp. The 6-foot-4 Wyatt will be the Trojan's center this year.

Madison Trojans

Devils hope to overcome shortcomings

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

VENICE — Basketball is a tall man's sport, but the Venice Red Devils are out to prove that short people can play the game too.

Venice coach Ken Perkins will be the first to admit it won't be an easy task. No one on the Red Devils' starting lineup will be over 5-9. That's right, 5-9.

Meanwhile, Venice will have to meet the likes of Lovejoy, which has 6-11 Barry Sumpter and 6-3 Walter Sims, East St. Louis Assumption, which has 6-4 Derek Berry, and several other teams much taller than the Red Devils. "We have to play exceptionally well to play against the tall teams," Perkins said. "If a team has even one 6-5, 6-6 or 6-11 players and you against the team with 5-8, 5-7 and 5-9 players, they're going to wear you out no matter what. We have to shoot and jump extremely well."

The reason why Perkins is optimistic about the Red Devils' chances is because they can shoot, jump and run well. Venice has already been tagged the team to beat in the Illini-Gateway Conference, and Venice should be one of the better small schools in the area this year.

"I think we got the potential of being a good team depending on how much hard work they want to put in," Perkins said.

A trio of seniors make up the nucleus of the Red Devils. William Watts, a 5-9 three-year starter, will be at forward. Terron Ware, a 5-7 two-year starter, will be at guard, and 5-9 Keith Marchbanks will be at center.

Eddie Salmond, who emerged as the starting point guard as a sophomore last year, will be back at that spot this year. Salmond is 5-8.

Phillip White, who averaged 24 points a game at the junior varsity level, is a 5-9 junior and should play at forward. Other players who could play critical roles for Venice include seniors Dean Johnson and Micah Riley. Juniors Larry McGhee and Ricky King and sophomores Victor Jackson, Darren Wise, and Karl Brent could help out the Red Devils this year.

Last year, Venice was 18-8 overall and 5-6 in the conference. Although Venice appears to be the big favorite in the league, Perkins expects a challenge from Metro-East Lutheran.

"If Metro-East can put everything together, they be up with us fighting for the championship. They have a couple of really tough players in (Cliff) Dellamano and (Steve) Cummings," Perkins said.

"We got a lot of experience coming back, but we have to run, shoot and jump extremely well all the time to play with the tall teams. It won't be easy for us," Perkins said.

Bunting: Positive forces working at South

GRANITE CITY — Mel Bunting, Granite City South's assistant soccer coach, said at the soccer, cross-country and golf athletic banquet Thursday that everything in life can be compared to a magnet.

"There are positive forces and negative forces working on everything. Plenty of light has been shed on the negative forces on our team this year. I think it's fitting we bring out the positive forces at work this year."

Needless to say, Bunting had plenty of praise for the state champion Warriors at the banquet.

In particular, Bunting noted the support the parents and fans gave the team during the rough time during the season and the desire of the players to do well.

In addition, Bunting noted other things like the success of past Warriors in college and friendship as positive forces which help make coaching worthwhile.

Seniors Barry Grote, Bill Hency and Tony Segobiano shared the most valuable player award in soccer. Matt Sheridan, a junior, received the "Unsung Hero" award.

All 24 Warrior varsity players received letters this year because all of them were able to play enough quarters to earn letters. The Warriors were 22-2 for the year, undefeated and underscored upon in the Gateway East Conference and winners of the Glenbrook North Soccer Bowl and their own Tournament of Champions.

"Some of the coaches said we put a voodoo on their teams," head coach Gene Baker said. "Our voodoo is true honesty. Our players had a really true camaraderie and teamwork."

Everyone got involved. That is our voodoo."

Lora Wiser was named the top runner on the girls cross country team. The freshman finished 46th at the state cross country meet.

Mary Bisch was the most consistent runner, and Connie Williamson, Michelle Shoemaker were the most improved runners.

Todd Scrum was "Mr. Roadrunner" for the boys team. Kurt Smith was the most improved, and Bob Shaw was the outstanding freshman for the boys cross country team.

Steeler cagers have talent, more inexperience

By STEVE ROTSCHE
of the Press-Record
Granite City North's basketball team is heading into the 1982-83 season with a lot of talent, but even more inexperience, according to coach Bill Ohlendorf.

Although Ohlendorf thinks the Steelers are not exceptionally quick, he believes the jumping ability of the Steelers will be an asset as the season progresses.

"They have talent and they're working hard, but they need a little experience," Ohlendorf said.

The Steelers are coming off of a 10-16 season overall, and a 2-4 record in the Gateway East Conference. Ohlendorf is expecting Edwardsville, Cahokia and Alhaff to be strong again this year.

"It looks like another year like last year," Ohlendorf said.

Ohlendorf is in his 22nd year of coaching and his tenth with the Steelers.

Ohlendorf is concerned about the start of the season because he lost four starters from last year's team: point guard Carl Luehmann, forwards Kendall Whittington and Harold Rody, and center Terry Martin. In addition, North lost sixth man Mike Sullivan.

Two senior lettermen are returning to this year's team, but only one of them, Steve Trittschuh, started for the Steelers last year at guard. The other letterman, Darren DePew, will become a regular starter at forward this year.

Brian Levin, a senior who would have started the season at guard, will miss several weeks of the season with a knee injury.

Levin will undergo arthroscopic surgery this week and should be back with the team in about three weeks, according to Ohlendorf.

Although Ohlendorf admitted his starting lineup was not set, Scott Cant will probably start at center. Ohlendorf said the 6-4 sophomore was a good shooter.

Sophomore Jeff Gray and junior Art Williams are battling for a starting forward position, but Gray may have the advantage because he is the better shooter.

Williams is 5-11 and Gray is an even 6-0.

Senior Ray Takmajian has probably wrapped up the other guard position because of his experience and size. At 6-2, Takmajian is the second tallest man on the squad.

"We'll be as physical as the other team's size will let us," Ohlendorf said.

The Steelers have always been a good defensive team, according to Ohlendorf. They only allowed 53 points a game last season, and he expects that sort of defensive statistics again this year.

The rest of the Steeler squad are juniors Gerald Booker, Kevin Schatz, Sam Tate, sophomores Dave Baggett, Kurt Hylia, Greg Gobbie and Derek Merz.

Needs more local recruitment

By ALBARNES
Again, the Warriors of Granite City South High School have won the Illinois State High School soccer championship. Here's this column's congratulations to Coach Gene Baker and his outstanding kickers.

Most of my readers know how I feel about Illinois prep soccer. But, if you've missed it, I feel that our young men...and women...are playing as good, or better, grade of soccer as there is in the entire United States.

And, that includes St. Louis.

To my way of thinking, it is an absolute disgrace that our own university, the Southern Illinois U. at Edwardsville

Cougars, hasn't ever had a starter from a team in the southwestern Illinois section of our state. Only one player from Illinois, Gene Mihalow, a young man from Chicago, has ever been tagged by SIUE's veteran coach, Bob Guelker, to take the field for the Cougars.

I have just received a letter from a resident of Granite City, Al Rowden, who feels even stronger about Guelker's total disregard for Illinois area players than I do.

Writes Mr. Rowden: "It is long, long overdue that someone should speak out about the recruiting practices of SIUE. First, SIUE (coaches) love to say that they are successful in soccer against the foreign players. I feel that this is only partially true. As far as Granite City soccer fans are concerned all the players at SIUE are foreigners. I feel that the coach of the Cougars has forgotten the name of the University for which he works. For the record, the name is SOUTHERN ILLINOIS UNIVERSITY at Edwardsville. The name is NOT St. Louis Soccer Club East. I have no quarrel with any private college recruiting and playing soccer talent from whatever country they wish. Their money comes from private sources. For every Missouri player Guelker puts on the field there is one son of an Illinois taxpayer who is denied the opportunity to play at an institution that is supported by his parents. In my opinion, any coach who consistently, and in Guelker's case, exclusively uses 'out of state athletes' should be asked some very pointed questions by SIUE school administrators and/or legislators who are asked for funds to support the institution.

"As to the quality of the soccer athletes in our area, we know that at least thirty (30) young men from Granite North and Granite South played somewhere in the nation somewhere every year. That alone is remarkable statistic, but (last year) when you realize that several of these players competed for schools which defeated SIUE in head-to-head competition (Eastern Illinois U., and St. Louis U.) and others ranked above the Cougars nationally such as the University of Connecticut.

"This year (1982), there is a comparable number of Granite City players starting in college soccer. If you add the Collinsville, Alton (Marquette), Belleville, et al, players to the list, it strains anyone's credulity to believe (that) SIUE couldn't field a strong and representative team with most, if not all, local players."

Rowden continues by charging that Illinois players, to his mind, aren't "scouted." He adds, too, that it appears that, in effect, "there is deliberate 'put down' of Illinois prep soccer despite the record they have registered very good against St. Louis high school kickers in the past five or six years."

He concludes: "What I am saying that when SIUE was founded 25 years ago, it's reason for existence was to serve this area. In many ways, the university has done and continues to do an outstanding job giving local young men and women opportunities for education that would not exist were it not for SIUE. However, (I feel) that the soccer team is run as Guelker's private club with no (apparent) effort whatsoever to serve this area and its young men."

Warrior hoopsters looking for winning season

By A.L. GEISENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

Despite having just two returning seniors to the Warrior cage squad, coach Don Deterding is optimistic about this year's team. "At this particular juncture," Deterding said, "things look pretty good. I think we've got more depth than we've had in some time."

That optimism has Deterding thinking "winning season." Last year the Warriors cagers finished the season 8-15 overall, and 2-5 in the Gateway East Conference. In fact, it's been three years since the Warriors have posted a winning season. During the 1979-79 season the Warriors were 18-8.

Deterding has two reasons for thinking things will be different for the Warriors this year, and they're both named Linhart.

Returning to the Warrior line up this year are seniors John and Pat Linhart. Pat, a 6-foot-3 forward, was the Warriors' leading scorer last year, averaging 13 points per game. John averaged slightly more than seven points per game. John's expertise is not limited to the basketball court. During the preceding football season he quarterbacked the Warriors to their first win in three years.

Stepping into the forward position opposite Pat in the starting line up will be Brian Filthers. Filthers is a 6-foot-3½ senior.

Playing opposite John at guard, Deterding said, will be 5-foot-8½ Barry Grote. Grote, a member of the Warrior state championship soccer team, just joined the Warrior cage squad last week.

"Brian really looks promising," Deterding said. "He's really quick, and he's quite a jumper."

As for Grote, Deterding said, he'll handle the ball. Four of the starting positions seems to be determined, Deterding said. The fifth, the center position, still is not sewn up, and Deterding is looking at two: Tom Paul, a 6-foot-5½ inch senior and Jim Hillmer, a 6-foot-8 senior.

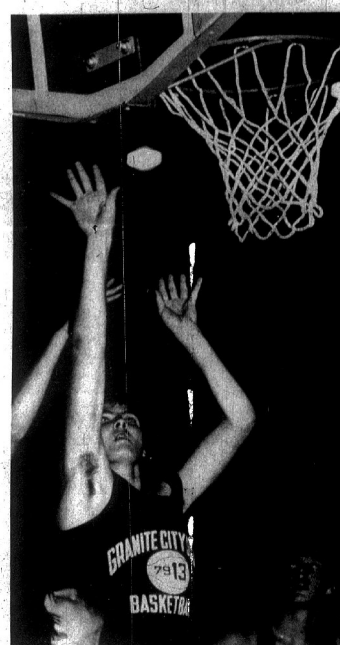

"Both kids have potential," Deterding said. "A center has to be more than just tall. They'll both have to show me more than I'm seeing now (to win the position)," Deterding said.

Deterding said the Warriors will play a style of basketball that favors the fast break when they start their season this Thursday at the Quincy Round Robin Tournament. "We're going to try and kick the ball out a little more," he said.

That style of basketball was instilled in Deterding early. He played "fast break" basketball in 1962 when he was center of the Collinsville basketball team. Deterding, by the way, was the first player at Collinsville to average more than 20 points a game. He averaged 20.6 in 1962.

Others in the Warrior line up who are expected to see a lot of action this year are juniors Paul Mousous, Tom Adamitis and Gary Apperson.

The Warriors open at home on Friday, Dec. 3, against GEC rival Alhaff. Junior varsity action begins at 6:15 p.m.

Cougars defeat North Texas U. 1-0

By AL BARNES
For the Press-Record

EDWARDSVILLE — The Cougars of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville won the Midwest Regional NCAA soccer division I (large schools) championship Sunday afternoon before a fairly large crowd at Cougar Field.

Coach Bob Guelker's SIUE Cougars defeated a very sharp and hard-playing soccer eleven from North Texas State U. of Denton, Tex., 1-0, in a real, nail-biting thriller.

The Eagles of coach Buddy Baker lived up to North Texas' State U.'s other nickname, the Mean Green, and gave the Cougars all they could handle.

A flagrant foul by North Texas' outside left, Steve Buss Finks, drew a red card and the visitors from the Lone Star State had to play the rest of the game one player short.

At the 72:18 mark, the Cougars' fiery and high-intensity winger, Dan Malloy, blasted in the game's only goal, the elongated 6-4 North Texas keeper, Lynn Venable, on a shovel pass from Steve Gauvain. It was Malloy's fifth goal of the season and was probably just as important as his lead-off goal at Busch Stadium against St. Louis U. in the Bronze Boot classic.

It was the second meeting this season of the two collegiate soccer giants. Earlier, the Cougars had clobbered the Mean Green at Denton, Tex., 4-2. But, after the loss, the Eagles began to put it all together and had won five straight, including a 1-0 victory this past week over Eastern Illinois U. at Charleston.

Making the best of their one-man advantage in the last half, the Cougars really bombarded the Texas goalie, racking up 16 shots on goal to the Eagles' four. Overall, for the game, SIUE took 9 shots to 5 for the losers. SIUE had a substantial lead in corner kicks, 10 to two. It was a roughly played game, too, with the visitors being called 17 times to the Cougars' 18.

The Cougars, who have never failed to make the NCAA soccer playoffs since becoming eligible in 1969, will play their third-round match next Sunday. Their opponent and the site of the game is yet to be determined.

It will be the winner of the Far West regional: University of San Francisco, the University of Washington, San Diego State and Fresno State, all four highly ranked nationally.

The site of the tournament will be determined by two factors:

First, the playing field condition of the final two teams and Second, the team which drew the biggest crowd to their regional game.

The Dons of the University of San Francisco just moved into their new soccer stadium. According to Jack McKenzie, Western Illinois U. soccer coach and chairman of the Midwest NCAA regional tourney committee, the Dons' field isn't as good as the Cougars' but "if they outdrew the Cougars, they'll host the game... that is, if they win."

Den O'Keefe, the Cougars' leading scorer, had one of those days against North Texas that make athletes want to give up sports. He had seven good shots on goal and, with a little luck, all seven could have gone in.

It all started early: with just a little more than two minutes elapsed, O'Keefe took a pass from Tom Groark but the visitors' lanky keeper, Lynn Venble, made an absolutely impossible "save."

After the game, the dejected O'Keefe, consoled himself by predicting: "Perhaps, I'll get one in the next three games."

Maybe he'll be right. The Cougars, if everything goes right for them, will get the chance to win their third national soccer crown Dec. 11 at Lockhart Stadium in Ft. Lauderdale, Florida.

They won the Division I crown in 1979 by whipping Clemson U., 3-2, at Tampa Bay and, in 1972, they won the first Division II championship ever played by turning back New York State U. of Oneonta, 1-0, on an icy Cougar Field in early December.

Yatkeman, Phillips at sports banquet

GRANITE CITY — Butch Yatkeman, the retired clubhouse manager of the St. Louis Cardinals baseball team, and Dave Phillips, an umpire who worked the 1982 World Series, will be the guest speakers at the Granite City Park District's 23rd annual sports award banquet Tuesday, Nov. 30.

The banquet will be held at the Harold Brown Recreation Center at Franklin and Amos Avenues at 6:15 p.m. Tickets for the banquet are $3.75 each and must be purchased before Wednesday, Nov. 24.

Yatkeman, a native St. Louisan, worked for the Cardinals for 18 years as a batboy, equipment manager and clubhouse manager. He was a part of the Cardinals' 13 pennant winners and nine World Series winners.

Phillips is also the Metro Conference's supervisor of basketball officials and has been a college basketball referee for 15 years.

"Operations and hospital rooms cost a lot more than you think," Y seeks coaches

The Tri-City Area YMCA is looking for youth volunteer basketball coaches. According to David L. Femrite, executive director at the YMCA, the main ingredient in coaching YBA is the admiration of youth. "We can teach 'em everything else," Femrite says.

The YBA program was started about ten years ago as a national basketball program, sponsored by the YMCA and the NBA. The program is based on values such as teamwork, equal playing time, putting winning in proper perspective, and building the self-confidence of youth.

YBA will be held in Granite City, Madison, and Venice. Schools in Granite City where YBA will be held include: Parkview, Marshall, Webster, Logan and Maryville.

Volunteers are asked to call the Tri-City Area YMCA by Nov. 24 (876-7200).

Lord Nelson's, 1226 Nineteenth St., will conduct a city championship billiards tournament, Saturday, Dec. 11 and Sunday, Dec. 12.

The men's division will take place Dec. 11 at 2 p.m. for the first 48 players and the women's division is set for Dec. 12 at 2 p.m. for 16 to 32 players.

Prizes and breakdowns will be based on entries. The tournament will be single elimination, best of seven games according to Meucci Cue Rules. A player meeting will be Dec. 10 at 7 p.m. and entrants must be paid and signed by that time. Late entries will not be accepted. Rites held for Doyle Littlefield

Funeral services were conducted at 1 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 18, at Kassy Colonial Mortuary in Fairview Heights, for Doyle "Doc" Littlefield, 48, of Fairview Heights, a member of American Legion Post 113 of Granite City.

He died at 6:10 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 16, 1982, at Memorial Hospital, Belleville.

Mr. Littlefield was employed 22 years as a pipefitter and welder at Monsanto Co., and was a member of Chemical Workers Union, Local 12.

Survivors include two daughters, five brothers, and one sister.

Burial was in Lake View Memorial Gardens, Belleville.

'55 Alive' can reduce seniors' car insurance

Illinois drivers 55 years of age and older, who successfully complete "55 Alive-Mature Driving," a classroom accident prevention refresher course, may qualify for an auto liability insurance discount, under a new law which became effective on July 1, 1982.

In order to meet the growing demand for more courses, additional volunteers are needed in Illinois to become instructors for "55 Alive-Mature Driving," designed by the American Association of Retired Persons specifically for drivers age 55 and over.

Men and women, age 55 or older, may qualify to become instructors after participating in the "55 Alive" course, which is being introduced to a growing list of communities in Illinois. More instructors are needed so that the benefits of the course may be offered to all senior drivers who may wish to update and improve their driving skills. Training is provided by AARP. This unique course provides participants the opportunity to discuss their own driving problems and they are advised on ways and means to cope with them.

The effects of aging and medications on driving, basic driving rules of the road, local driving hazards, accident prevention measures, hazardous driving conditions and many other topics pertaining to the senior driver are discussed in two half-day sessions.

Men and women 55 years and older, who are licensed Illinois drivers, are eligible to participate in the class and may qualify to become a volunteer instructor. For further information about classes or becoming an instructor, interested persons may write, including name, address and telephone number, to "55 Alive-Mature Driving," Assistant Coordinator, Hilmar Schmelzel, 5 Woodland Court, Belleville, IL 62221.

LOCAL COACH FOR NMSU PLAY

Rich McKinney of Granite City was the accompanist and vocal coach in the University of Illinois production of "The Peajama Game" presented Nov. 17-19, at Northeast Missouri State University, Kirksville, Mo.

"The Peajama Game" by George Abbott, is a musical comedy based on Richard Bissell's novel, "7½ Cents," about a strike in a Cedar Rapids, Ia., pajama factory. The action centers around a conflict between the union and management after the workers have been denied a raise. More complications arise when Sid, the factory superintendent, and Babe, the leader of the grievance committee, fall in love.

The musical features dancing and hit songs such as "Steam Heat" and "Hernando's Hideaway." Rich is working on a master's degree in music education at NMSU. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John McKinney of Granite City.

"Would you like to participate in a unique experience to enrich your understanding of prehistoric Indian life? If so, you may want to join a project in progress at Cahokia Mounds Historic Site Southeast of Horseshoe Lake," a spokesman for the Cahokia Mounds Museum suggests.

Experimental archaeologist Dr. Errett Callahan, has been contracted by the Cahokia Mounds Museum Society to direct the reconstruction of a Late Bluff (AD 900), pit house, the typical dwelling of the early occupants of the Cahokia site. The reconstruction is based on a pit house excavated at the Merrell Tract just west of Monks Mound. The house floor is sunken below ground surface but the roof and upper walls are above ground. It is being constructed of natural materials such as cedar poles, grass thatch, clay daub and rawhide lashings. Authentic replications of stone, bone, and wood tools are being used to duplicate the native technology.

"By scientifically documenting the construction procedures, useful knowledge will be gained about how much time it takes, the quantities and types of materials used and, ultimately, the durability of the structure after long exposure to the climate. At the same time, an enjoyable experience can be had by those participating," the spokesman said.

Individuals or small groups can spend a day or more at Cahokia working on the house. There are numerous activities which non-experienced individuals can quickly learn. This offers participants a unique opportunity to learn and understand authentic Indian tool usage and housebuilding techniques, he suggested.

In addition to more than 25 years experience in knapping flint and building nearly 40 primitive houses, Dr. Callahan has spent six years teaching experimental archaeology, lithic technology and cultural anthropology at Virginia Commonwealth University. He also taught at Catholic University, where he earned his PhD with a dissertation resulting from his reconstruction of an authentic Indian village on the Pamunkey Indian Reservation in eastern Virginia. Through his continued work in experimental archaeology in this country and in Europe, Dr. Callahan has become a leader in his field.

Dr. Callahan's pit house project has already begun. Volunteer help is needed to obtain and process a variety of raw materials and to assist in the reconstruction. Raw deer hides are needed to provide lashings. Monetary donations are drastically needed.

The house is scheduled for completion by Christmas. Callahan then will develop a detailed, photo-illustrated report on the project.

In addition to the house reconstruction, Callahan will be conducting workshops in experimental archaeology on a tuition basis to help fund the pit house project. Suggestions for themes (ceramics, flintknapping, etc.) are welcome.

Persons interested in helping with this experiment project by donating time or materials may contact the Cahokia Mounds Museum as soon as possible by calling 344-5268, 62201.

Special service at Christian Science

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Kircher

Kircher-Pritchard

Miss Pamela Marie Pritchard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gail Pritchard, 624 E. Chain of Rocks Road, and Ronald Dale Kircher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Kircher, Rural Route Four, Edwardsville, were united in marriage on Sept. 25 at St. John Lutheran Church.

The Rev. Samuel Boda officiated at the 6:30-evening service. Nuptial music was furnished by Cheryl Schofield at the organ and Randy Belling, soloist.

Guests were received at a reception given at the Moose Lodge Hall immediately following the ceremony.

Carmen Stewart served as maid of honor and Mrs. Diane Coleman and Cheryl Kircher, a sister of the groom, were bridesmaids. Dennis Hardesty attended the groom as best man, Mike Sampson, Mike Conner, Craig Strittmatter and Mike Pritchard, a cousin of the bride, completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

Timothy Stewart was the ring bearer and Brenda Cochran attended the guest book. A January 1977 graduate of Granite City High School North, the bride is presently employed as a cashier at the Wal-Mart Store in Collinsville.

The groom graduated in 1972 from Edwardsville High School and is now enrolled at Belleville Area College where he is majoring in business. He served in the U.S. Air Force from 1972 until 1981, and is now working as a receiving clerk at Dolgins Store in St. Charles, Mo.

The newlywed Mr. and Mrs. Kircher reside in Granite City.

A special service of Thanksgiving, at 10:45 a.m. Nov. 25, at the Christian Science Church, 2560 Delmar Ave., will trace the scriptural record of God's blessings — even in times of widespread economic challenges. The Bible lesson-sermon, drawn from both the Old and New Testaments, focuses on God's provision for daily needs of food, clothing, shelter, as well as the deeper yearnings of the heart for fulfillment, health, and the opportunity to help others, according to a church spokesman.

The latter part of the hour-long service has been set aside for expressions of gratitude. Hymns, the Lord's Prayer, and President's Thanksgiving Proclamation complete the order of service.

All Christian Science services, and the Thanksgiving meeting is open to all. Free care for very young children is available at the church during the service.

The meeting will be conducted by Charles A. Meyer, currently serving the congregation as first reader. Mrs. Jeanette James will read from the scriptures, it was noted.

OFFER AWARDS FOR FACULTY

The annual Research Scholar Award competition for faculty members at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has been announced by Vaughn J. Lindsay, dean of the Graduate School.

The purpose of the competition is to stimulate research on campus and to honor those researchers whose work is of the highest quality, the dean said.

Two awards will be given this year, each consisting of up to $7,500. Prospects are due Dec. 17, and the deadline for proposals is Jan. 10. These materials should be sent to the Office of Research and Projects. Winners will be announced in early April, Dean Lindsay said.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting Sue Jean in the SIUE Office of Research and Projects, located in the Rendleman Building, or by telephoning 1-682-3162.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Grieves

Grieves-Siegel

The wedding of Miss Cheryl M. Siegel of Maryville, Ill., and Jack W. Grieves of Glen Carbon, was solemnized on Oct. 9 at the Good Shepherd United Methodist Church in Granite City.

They exchanged vows in a 6 o'clock evening ceremony conducted by the Rev. John Read. Nuptial selections were provided by Organist Peggy Steckert and David Andrews, soloist.

Following the service a reception was held at the Moose Lodge in Edwardsville.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen J. Siegel Jr. of Maryville. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Grieves of Sidney, Ohio.

Attending the bride were Camille Emig and Pat Haney. The groom chose Steve Hunter as best man and Rich Metz as groomsmen. Seating the guests was Steve Siegel, a brother of the bride, and Frank Cox.

The bride received a B.A.

St. Bartholomew's

The traditional Thanksgiving Eve service will be held on Wednesday evening beginning at 7 o'clock, at St. Bartholomew's Episcopal Church, 22nd Street and Grand Avenue.

service Thursday

The service will be the Holy Eucharist with a special Litany of Thanksgiving, and will feature traditional hymns of Thanksgiving including, "Come Ye Thankful People Come," "We Gather Together To Ask the Lord's Blessing," and "Now Thank We All Our God." Mrs. John K. Mefford will preside at the organ, and the Rev. Wilbur L. Lear, will be the celebrant and preacher.

A similar service will be held at 9 a.m. in St. Thomas Episcopal Church, School and Summit streets, in Glen Carbon, on Thanksgiving Day.

The public is welcome to attend either of these services, and further information is available by calling 876-7245.

Sisterhood marks 53rd year

A Thanksgiving banquet was served at Dewey Avenue United Methodist Church for members of the Sisterhood marking the 53rd anniversary of the organization, last week.

The Rev. Ray Kelley gave the welcoming address and introduced officers, Mrs. Evelyn Thompson, president, Mrs. Millie Sherman, secretary and Mrs. Opal Davis, financial secretary and treasurer.

Mrs. Alma Davis was introduced as the eldest member of the group. She spoke on many activities of the Sisterhood through the years and noted the first meeting was held in her home 53 years ago.

A moment of silence was held for the late Mrs. Iva Nichols.

A Thanksgiving decor was used for the table appointments and favors, in keeping with the theme, were created by Fern SanSoucie and Elsie Byrd.

Entertainment was a musical schoolroom skit directed by Mrs. Opal Davis, teacher. Those participating in the playlet were Pauline Squires, Mary Davis, Connie Kelley, Evelyn Thompson and Millie Sherman.

After the program all sang Happy Birthday for the benefit of the Sisterhood and those observing birthdays were honored.

The remainder of the gathering was social with Mrs. Barnes and Davis.

The bride was escorted down the white carpeted aisle and given in marriage by her father.

Lora Torrence won the evening prize. Special guests attending were James Kelley, and the Rev. Louis Fricke and family from Niedringhaus United Methodist Church.

Service couple announce 1st child

U.S. Army Corporal and Mrs. Anthony (Lori Dennis) Kohn of Killeen, Texas, formerly of Granite City, are announcing the birth of their first child on Nov. 2 at the base hospital at Fort Hood, Texas.

The infant has been named Laura Ann and she weighed six pounds, nine ounces.

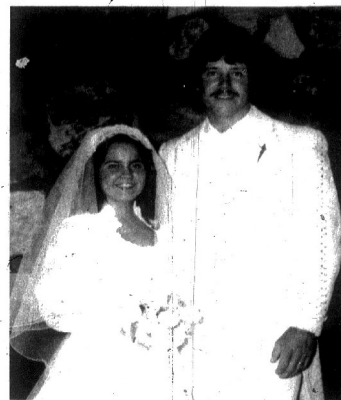

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Dennis and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kohn Sr., all of Granite City. Great-grandparents are Mrs. Beatrice Dennis of Auburn, N.Y., Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Weeks, Pontoon Beach. Great-great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ivy Burlingame of Union Town, Ky.

'Nobby' from hill?

Some experts say San Francisco's Nob Hill gave us the American word "nobby," designating a person of wealth or social standing, although "nobby" is a British expression of long standing.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nance

Nance-Tester

Miss Beverly Jan Tester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joel (Betty) Tester, 4028 Vesel Ave., became the bride of Thomas Dewayne Nance, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth (Connie) Mitchell, 3701 Johnson Road, on Oct. 30, at Nameoki United Methodist Church.

The Rev. Eugene Seamar officiated at the 5 o'clock evening ceremony. Beth Nichols presided at the organ and accompanied Mrs. June Branding as she sang, "The Wedding Song," "One Hand, One Heart" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was escorted down the white carpeted aisle and given in marriage by her father.

Mrs. Laura Chappell of St. Louis, a sister of the bride, served a matron of honor, with bridesmaids, Pamela Schaefer, a cousin of the groom, Crystal Nance, Jill Bledsoe, Allayna Beatty, Shannon Bushue, Elaine Koester, Kim Thompson and Kristy Whitaker.

Tricia Cavins, a niece of the bride, and Sarah Haddix, the groom's cousin, were flower girls.

Justin Bernalk, the bride's cousin, served as the ring bearer.

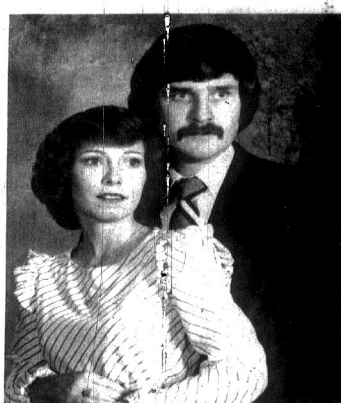

The groom chose Ror Pinkston as best man. Groomsmen included, Ker Mitchell, A brother, John Schaefer, brother-in-law of the bride, Joe Falloni, Tom Lucas, Bryan McCullough and Mike Robertson.

Dennis and Tim Bernalk, Bryan Nance, and Ricky Nance, cousins of the bride and groom, were ushers.

Carl Crawford, the bride's cousin, and Caryn Haddix, a cousin of the groom, were candlelighters and Mrs. Patty Cavins, another sister of the bride, presided over the guest book.

Immediately following the religious service a reception was held in the church hall.

Both young people are graduates of Granite City High School North. The bride is attending Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville as a Presidential Scholar majoring in mathematics and computer science. The groom will be leaving for training as a administrative specialist with the U.S. Army this month.

Sheryle Patton and Richard Hustedt

Hustedt-Patton

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Patton, 1605 Minerva Ave., are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Miss Sheryle L. Patton and Richard L. Hustedt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Weeks, Pontoon Beach.

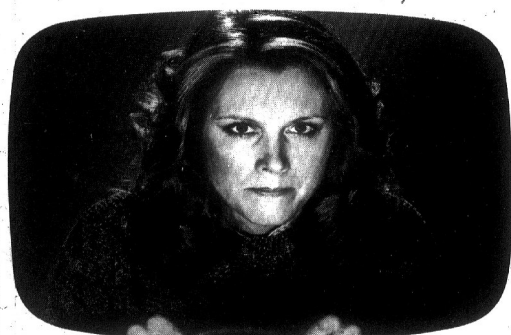

A graduate of Granite City High School North, the bride elect is now employed at K-Mart Store.

Her fiancé works as a Home Improvement manager at K-Mart Store and is a Granite City High School South graduate.

The betrothed couple plans to be married in May at Concordia Lutheran Church.

Anchorage dinner attracts 68 guests

The annual Thanksgiving dinner, sponsored by Anchorage Senior Citizen Club, attracted 68 members and guests, given in the Recreation Hall of the housing project.

Mrs. Augusta Lampe, president, gave the welcoming address followed by the Rev. Leroy Pilby offering prayer. All present recited the pledge to the flag. The president then introduced guests, David Morgan, Everett Morelen, Wesley and Virginia Williams and daughter, Kimberly, Helen Theil and Jason Beck.

Although there was not a business session a letter from the Salvation Army was read and Vivian Mitchell and Mary Ahlvers collected monies for the Christmas dinner party and membership dues.

Morgan spoke to the group emphasizing they should not answer the door to strangers since two residents have allowed people to enter their apartments under the pretense of using the phone and then discovered their wallets were missing.

Mrs. Lampe added, "Everyone should put their wallets or purses out of sight and if someone does call at the apartment the items will not be seen."

The birthday flower, provided by Willis Flowers, was presented to Ida Carls. Games followed the dinner and prizes were awarded to Louise Orr, Teresa Walknach, Jo Wilkins, Evelyn Morgan, Edna Ishum, Helen Theil, Lena Harmeson, Annalee Beger and Mary Bagl.

Local tour for Cub Scout pack

Cub Scout Pack 14, sponsored by Good Shepherd Methodist Church, visited the Granite City Fire and Police Stations, last week, as a civic project.

John Bell conducted the tour at the fire station, demonstrated and explained the operations of all the fire equipment and the rescue truck. He then directed the group to the Granite City Ambulance where Dave Maclos, paramedic, displayed various pieces of equipment and explained the use of each item.

Glen Wright of the police department took the group through the police station and introduced the scouts to the detectives and dispatcher. They were "locked" in a cell, viewed the booking procedure and took a ride in the back of a police car. Of special interest was the artillery section and riot guns.

Participating in the tour were Cindy Smith, den leader, Marietta Daniels, assistant den leader, and scouts, Michael Smith, Michael Burton, Chris Larue, Chris Proffitt, Ryan Hankins, Michael Ridenhour, Robbie and Randy Proffitt.

Advent services at Nameoki Presbyterian

"The Wonder of Christmas" will be the theme of the Advent services to be heard in the Nameoki Presbyterian Church, 1700 Pontoon Road. The Rev. Don P. Pierson will begin the series Sunday, Nov. 28, at 10:45 a.m. with a sermon on "News From Another Network." The service will include special music by the Sanctuary Choir and the observance of Advent Communion.

Each Sunday during the Advent season, the members of the congregation will be invited to bring a "White gift of food" for the Deacons' Christmas baskets. Familiar Christmas carols will be sung as the members present these gifts to the Christ child. A "Tree of Love" will also provide for the Christmas baskets with a $2 donation to light one of the lights.

Advent events for the entire church family will take place each Sunday at 7 p.m. The Rev. Nuhad Tomeh, a graduate of the Near East School of Theology in Beirut, Lebanon, will present the first program entitled: "Triumph in Tragedy." He will bring an up-to-date picture of the church in Lebanon during these recent crisis. Rev. Tomeh has been a preacher and counselor throughout Syria and Lebanon, as a member of the National Evangelical Presbyterian Church of Beirut. After the completion of a doctorate in counseling in St. Louis, Rev. Tomeh will return to start the first Christian Rehabilitation Center in Lebanon.

"Summer Stage" a professional touring company of players, will present three plans of Christmas on Sunday, Dec. 5, and the annual Christmas pageant will be Dec. 12. A candlelight worship service by the young people will conclude the Advent fellowship events on Sunday evening, Dec. 19.

The community is invited to share in the 9:30 a.m. Sunday School and Adult Coffee Hour as well as the 10:45 a.m. worship services, Rev. Pierson added.

Madison FSA hears speaker

Tom Thebeau, a representative of State Farm Insurance, was the featured speaker at a meeting of the Madison Chapter of Future Secretaries Association, last week.

His talk was related to what the boss expects from a secretary and what she in turn can expect from him. He pointed out the advantages and disadvantages of working for a large or small company.

The speaker stressed that young people have a tendency to place more emphasis on the amount of the salary when they first look for work, however after four years other factors such as job security and job satisfaction become equally important.

Thebeau suggested the secretary should pay close attention to the nature of work as it is described to her during the beginning of her employment and ask questions when she is not sure of her duties. In conclusion he said a merit raise is the best a secretary can receive since it is the boss's way of saying she had done a good job.

Chapter officers conducted a business session prior to the program.

Chapter KU marks 17 years

Mrs. Eunice Witter, 2335 Zippel Ave., was hostess to members of Chapter KU, P.E.O. Sisterhood, for the 17th anniversary celebration of the local chapter.

A potluck dinner was served by the hospitality committee including, Madeline Hulda Davis, Jo Ann Burckey and Martha Delevski. Later the hostess served a dessert course.

In lieu of a business meeting, Mrs. Bessie Coudige showed slides which traced the history of the chapter from its beginning to the present time.

Others attending were, Ruth Ann Bartels, Fay Carlisle, Mary Dame, Barbara Houston, Joann Kraus, Bonnie Loftus, Evelyn Maxwell, Jean Maxwell, Mary McCarty, Mary Mullen, Elizabeth Rea, and Beth Spangler.

The group discovered that Jefferson Barracks, during its 120 years as a military post, served many missions from protecting the frontier at its birth, military hospital facility during the Civil War and as a large training center during World War II. They found that many of the nation's great military leaders saw duty at Jefferson Barracks including Zachary Taylor, Jefferson Davis, U.S. Grant, Robert E. Lee and William T. Sherman. Also they found that some of the scouts fathers and grandfathers served at the St. Louis facility.

The trail is operated by the St. Louis County Parks and Recreation Department and is an approved hiking trail of the Boy Scouts of America.

This trail features several points of interest, the Powder Magazine Museum, which depicts the entire history of the barracks, and Laborer's House and Stable where the buildings are restored to the 1850 period.

Also a scenic circle with gates and fences constructed during the 1870's from rifle barrels and cannons, the parade grounds and building which remains a military installation used by the Missouri National Guard.

Kopsic-Scannell

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne (Jeanette) Scannell, 51 Villa Drive, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Miss Janet Lynn Scannell and James Kopsic, son of Mr. and Mrs. John (Blanche) Kopsic, 2839 Pershing Blvd.

Both the young people graduated from Granite City High School South.

Miss Scannell is employed as an accountant at Geisler and Associates and the prospective groom is working as a mechanic for Midwest Kawasaki.

The betrothed couple and their families are completing plans for a May 7 wedding to be solemnized at St. Margaret Mary Catholic Church.

Harmony Class marks 40th anniversary

Harmony Sunday School class celebrated its 40th anniversary with a potluck dinner in Wesley Hall of Niedringhaus United Methodist Church, last week.

At 4 o'clock, members and guests enjoyed a happy hour greeting friends, watching slides taken during past years of church activities and other viewing memorabilia on display.

The Rev. Louis Frick gave the invocation and the program began with the group singing.

President Edna Stith welcomed the group. Remarks were made by Rev. Frick, Forrest Piper, Ethel Kirchner Reed, Marvin Barnes, Ralph Bailey, Fred Bolliger, Carl Thornberry and Harold Lynn.

Entertainment was furnished by "The Logo Four" a barber shop quartet.

The planning committee was Harold and Woodie Lynn, John and Ethel Reed, Fred and Edna Stith.

Brought members present were: Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Piper, Troy, Ill., Mrs. Ethel Kirchner Reed, Ramsey, Ill., Marvin Barnes and Fred Bolliger, Granite City.

Caution urged in steel rumors

Serious consequences for the Quad-City area could result if the current downturn at Granite City Steel is not handled with "kid gloves," officials seem to agree. As the Press-Record disclosed exclusively Thursday, National Steel Corp. has suspended construction of the "C" coke oven battery and there are indications that the suspension of work could spread beyond just the one coke oven battery.

That is why it is essential that Quad-Cityans are kept informed of the latest developments and of the possible reasons and implications. There are many factors to be considered in analyzing the current situation. The word "strike" keeps coming up in conversations with persons close to the situation.

There are two views. One is that, should there be a Steelworkers' strike this year, Granite City Steel would leave the area. The opposite view is that the steelmaker is attempting to make things look worse than they are to improve the company's position in negotiations.

We have no idea which, if either, is correct. We suspect the answer is far more complicated. Granite

City Steel vice president and general manager Ed Sambuchi has promised to open up the lines of communication with the Press-Record later this week.

This newspaper pledges to give our readers as much information as we can obtain and to keep the perspective on the story that sensationalism and the printing of wild rumors may sell newspapers, but would only harm the Quad-City area's diligent attempts to keep Granite City Steel here.

We must believe that National Steel Corp. has kind feelings for the Quad-Cities. Most of the corporate "chiefs" have come through the ranks by way of the Granite City Steel plant and, we hope, have fond memories of the area and the people here.

Cold, hard decisions — some as hard as steel itself — must be made at times when the steel industry is sustaining back-breaking losses, but these decisions are being made by people — not computers — people who know us and our community.

We can only pledge to give them the best we have to offer, including our support, and ask them, in return, to give us their support.

'A better life begins at home'

(Guest editorial from the Scottish Rite Masonic lodges.)

We're told that World War II brought about changes in our society which have, over the decades that followed, altered the American family.

We became a more mobile people, traveling across the nation in search of better lives and pursuing the dream of opportunity. It is said that we left our roots — and our families — behind.

Then came the "do your own thing" philosophy of life that engulfed the thinking of millions of young and not-so-young Americans. In the wake of what appears to have been a somewhat desperate effort to find "the good life," family life suffered. For some, the family became little more than a millstone, holding them back from their freedom.

As we all know, there is much more to the story. During these same years, we watched the crime rates rise to the point that million of us in large cities and small towns are fearful to venture outside our front doors. Older citizens, in particular, are hostages to fear.

We also have seen a dramatic decline in the work ethic and the spreading belief that there will always be some government program to take care of us.

Happily, more and more of us are beginning to make the discovery that a better life begins in just one place — at home. The size and shape of the family isn't the issue. It is what happens inside the home that's important. It is within the family that we learn self-respect, the essential quality of love and develop the feeling that we have responsibilities to ourselves and others.

The Scottish Rite Masons have chosen "A Better Life Begins At Home," as the theme for Family Life Week — now underway. America's richest resource is our people. Our strength comes from the values we cherish. Those values are to be found in the family. Once again, we need to remind ourselves that a better life begins at home.

Interest withholding a bad idea

from the Collinsville Herald

Banks, savings and loans and corporations that pay dividends are trying to get Congress to correct a "bad" mistake, withholding on 10 percent of interest and dividends, for income tax purposes.

The Treasury may gain somewhat; the scheme is designed to pressure income tax payers to correctly report all their income; if part of it is withheld, all of it will be reported, the theory goes.

To catch cheaters, and to gain a slight advantage for the government on getting its hands on the money sooner, the vast bulk of honest taxpayers are penalized.

But the innocent third parties that catch the massive burden of the scheme are the banks, savings and loans and corporations that generate those earnings that will be subject to 10 percent withholding.

They will have to set up new and costly systems to keep track of the withheld funds and report them to the people who earn the withheld.

Part of the income is exempted from the withholding; that will force the institutions to monitor every account to see when it earns sufficient money to require withholding.

It's an accounting nightmare, for a very small gain. The annual reports that banks and savings and loans and corporations must give their clients on earnings are in a form that is attached to the income tax return.

That means that already the IRS has all the tools needed to catch cheaters. Why burden the financial institutions with withholding? The small gain to the Treasury after all, the IRS is going to get the tax soon anyway — isn't worth the added burden on the institutions.

American cars are still safer

American auto makers can take considerable satisfaction from a new insurance industry report that comparative auto safety. And if they are wise, they will exploit and expand their statistical advantage for their own benefit and for the benefit of all drivers.

Based on insurance claims from 1976 through 1980, Japanese subcompact have the poorest safety record of all cars included in the study. On average, the report showed, the risk of being killed in a crash in most Japanese subcompact is 34 percent higher than in the same size class American-made car," according to William Haddon Jr., president of the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety. That is a dramatic warning to the motoring public.

The institute's report was based on information from 10 major insurance companies who write half of the nation's auto coverage.

Haddon called the findings the first "real world" data on the danger of driving small cars — the real world of mangled bodies and broken lives — that lies beyond the lure of fuel efficiency.

Of the 15 car models considered most unsafe, 12 are Japanese-built. In most cases, the safest cars were American-made and none were subcompact.

Insurers obviously would like everybody to drive larger, heavier autos but, acknowledging economic realities, "small cars are here to stay," as one company spokesman put it. The emphasis must be on improving the safety of compacts and subcompacts.

American auto makers ought to lose no time in capitalizing on their present advantage in the important area of safety. And American buyers should remain alert to that advantage when they are in the market for a new car.

Do you feel the construction freeze at Granite City Steel is a setback to the economic recovery of the area? This question was asked of persons downtown Friday by the Press-Record editorial staff. Their comments follow:

Robert Morris of Granite City

"I think that it's a setback and I hope it's a temporary setback. At this particular time, it hurts worse than it normally would."

Mary Ahlvers of Granite City

"I don't know if you can call it a setback or not. They have to do what they have to do. It's a vicious circle. The men ask for more money, then the prices go up. Then they (the men) ask for another raise."

Orville Hommert of Granite City

"I think that it's a temporary setback, but, in the long run, it will rectify itself. Hopefully it will turn around. I have the feeling it will."

Nick Petrillo of Granite City

"Definitely. They're one of the leading employers here. Are they trying to scare the people who are employed there? They shouldn't keep the people in doubt. I think things are going to get better."

George Lindsey still watching over the city

To the Editor:

Many cities have great landmarks high above their busy streets. Paris has the Eiffel Tower, London has Big Ben, St. Louis has the Arch, and Granite City, not to be outdone, has George Lindsey.

Although the restaurant was burned down, now close to three years, old faithful George still peers down on all the happenings on Nameoki and Felling Roads. It would seem by this time that the governing officials and whoever owns the property that lonesome George occupies, would want to rid the city and passing motorists of his eyecore on our busiest street. But then again, perhaps some future archaeologist may uncover him, and determine that good old

George is a monument to the city's founding father.

Just imagine, instead of Granite City, future generations may deduce that this was the site of Hawville, Ind.

Builders suggest a look back at history

To the Editor:

There is ample reason for all citizens of Illinois to be concerned about U.S. Labor Department reports showing unemployment in the construction industry hitting all time highs.

In Illinois alone, about 12,700 construction jobs have been lost in the past year. While Illinois' overall unemployment rate stands at about 11.8 percent, construction unemployment nationally is over 22 percent.

When World War II ended in 1945 and we had thousands of people looking for civilian jobs, major public works projects such as highways, ports and dams were created. The results were a booming economy, low unemployment and low interest rates.

Today, we have the opposite — a ruinous economy, high unemployment and interest rates that are too high.

Meanwhile, those same public works projects, now more than 35 years old, are in dire need of repairs and nearly one million construction workers across America are looking for jobs.

For every $1 billion spent on construction, 63,000 jobs are created — 26,300 in the construction industry and another 36,700 in related fields of employment. These workers pay double dividends. They send tax dollars back to the federal and state governments and they cease to cost us in welfare and unemployment payments.

Why can't we learn from history?

Commission rejects zoning

By GEORGEANN MCGEE
of the Press-Record

Former Madison County Board of Review member, Attorney Terry Francis, made claims of financial injustice as he was rebuffed in his initial bid Thursday for spot Central Business District zoning along Madison Avenue. The Granite City Plan Commission unanimously disapproved the request in the presence of a handful of protesting residents gathered in the city hall basement. Attorney Francis already had exited the meeting, but not before telling commissioners he had previously been advised to take his case to court. "But, I didn't want to do it with rancor," Francis said as he walked out.

The property at 2740 Madison Ave., which had housed offices and a sporting goods store, now lies vacant. The concrete block building was originally constructed as a sheet metal processing plant just prior to the city's first zoning ordinance was put into effect in 1959.

Under that law and the city's latest year-old zoning ordinance, the building continues to carry a non-conforming use classification, which recognizes its unique architectural aspects that set it apart from surrounding buildings.

David Morgan, Plan Commission chairman, said Francis, or a new owner, could continue to operate the building with its non-conforming status as a combination office-store complex, but Francis said such restrictions render his investment a financial loss.

He had hoped for the property to be zoned a C-4 (Central Business Commercial District) to encourage its sale. Francis said that when he purchased the building, he paid many times what the building would be worth in more restricted zoning categories.

If Francis takes the city to court, the action would be the first legal challenge to the city's stricter zoning ordinance that is specifically crafted to prevent spot zoning. Commissioners have disapproved other petitions for special requests in order to maintain consistency and to show uniformity in the event of a court fight.

The city's former zoning ordinance had been successfully challenged by individuals anxious to open offices in residential zones. Francis expressed optimism that he can win his case.

On the commissioners' advisory report, to be presented to the Granite City Council — which has the last word in zoning — they state the Madison Avenue request would be a deviation of the city's overall zoning plan. Before the new zoning ordinance was approved last year, the Madison Avenue zoning issue was bitterly contested between some realtors and area residents.

In a speech made after Francis realized his request would be disapproved, he chastised the board for what he considers its short-sighted economic vision in not letting properties be used for their "best and highest use."

Commissioner James Holland said there is "no way the board can adopt the philosophy of Mr. Francis." He then made the motion to advise the council against granting the request.

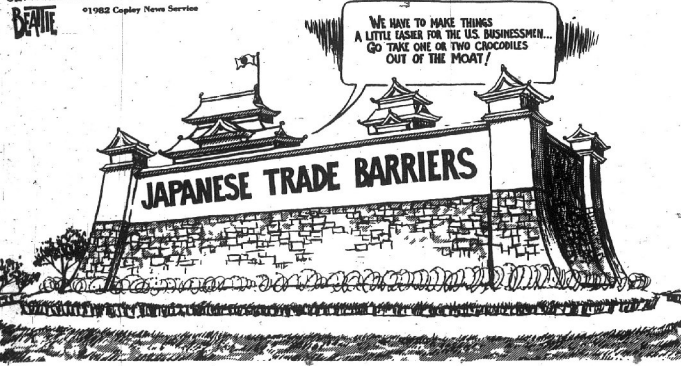

Park Board to unveil plaque

The Granite City Board of Park Commissioners will meet Tuesday night at 7 at the Harold Brown Recreation Center, Pontoon Road and Anna Avenue. The regular meeting scheduled for Wednesday, Thanksgiving Day eve, was rescheduled at the board's last meeting tomorrow.

Preceding the meeting will be the unveiling of a plaque honoring Harold Brown, retired superintendent of parks and recreation, who will be in attendance for the ceremony.

IN LOVING memory of TERRY G. EDDLEMAN, Nov. 21, 1980. Time speeds on, two years have passed, since death's gloom, its shadow cast, within our home, where all seemed bright, and took from us a shining light. We miss that light and ever will, his vacant place there is none to fill, down here we mourn, but not in vain, for up in heaven we will meet again. - Sadly missed by Father, Mother, Brothers and Sisters and all who loved him. 32 11 22

IN LOVING memory of THOMAS N. FEA SR., Nov. 22, 1977. We do not forget him, we love him too dearly, for his memory to fade from our lives like a dream. Our lips need not speak when our hearts mourn sincerely, for grief often dwells where seldom is seen. - Sadly missed by Wife, Children and Grandchildren. 32 11 22

TO GARY SIMPSON, Feb. 27, 1951 to Nov. 22, 1982. I have thought that the game would be over with a whisper instead of a cheer; that the crowd would thin down to a few sitting around, waiting helplessly for hope to appear. "Is there a basketball in heaven?" Grandma said it could be, I keep thinking of memory we share; that collapsing top bunk, "it's illegal to dunk" on the basket we put up downstairs. Has it really been such a long time ago, since we spent all that time with each other? I'm sure that you knew, but I'll write it for you, your biggest fan was your brother. 32 11 22

IN LOVING memory of my husband, LOUIS (BUTCH) BOSKAY, Nov. 22, 1974. Its loneliness here without you, long and weary the way, life has never been the same since you were taken away. Each time I look at your picture, you seem to smile and say, don't cry I am only sleeping, we'll meet again some day. - Sadly missed by Gertrude. 32 11 22

PUBLIC NOTICE
Notice of Proposed Change in Schedule To the Patrons of Illinois Power Company.
The Illinois Power Company hereby gives notice to the public that it has filed with the Illinois Commerce Commission to become effective with bills issued under House Bill 991 of the 82nd Illinois General Assembly becomes a law, a proposed change in its Schedule of Rates for Gas Service, Ill. C. C. No. 25, and in its Schedule of Rates for Electric Service, Ill. C. C. No. 27, which applies in all communities and areas served by it. The proposed change involves of the 3.00 percent Public Utility Tax and the .08 percent Commission Tax as proposed in House Bill 991 from charges in Illinois Power Company's rates. This transfer or "roll-out" of taxes will not increase any customer's billing for gas or electric service.

A proposed revision to the Company's Standard Terms and Conditions for Electric and Gas Service to reflect the language of the Commission's Amendment to Rule 9 of General Order 172.

A proposed revision to Rider P of the Schedule of Rates for Electric Service to reflect the language of the Commission's Amendment to General Order 21.

A copy of the proposed change in schedules may be inspected by any interested party at any business office of the Company.

All parties interested in this matter may obtain information with respect hereto either directly from this Company or by addressing the Chief Clerk of the Illinois Commerce Commission, Springfield, Illinois 62706.

Secretary of state's office 2-day closing
All offices and facilities in the secretary of state's office will be closed Thursday and Friday for Thanksgiving. Secretary of State Jim Edgar announced today.

Edgar also reminded automobile owners with November license plate registrations that midnight Tuesday, Nov. 30, is the deadline for displaying the new orange 1983 stickers in the upper left corner of the rear license plate.

Stickers may be purchased over the counter at secretary of state facilities in Springfield and Chicago and at 1,296 financial institutions, including 577 banks, 118 savings and loans, 600 Chicago area currency exchanges and one credit union.

Beginning Wednesday, Dec. 1, anyone driving a car with an expired brown, November 1982 sticker will be subject to a fine for improper registration.

Persons having questions regarding license plate registrations may call the secretary of state's toll-free telephone number, 1-800-252-8980.

Reasonably-priced fuel for holiday
Motorists are paying an average 5.5 cents per gallon less for fuel than they were paying a year ago, and almost 9 cents per gallon less than it did last November, according to an Auto Club of Missouri survey.

One reason for the drop is the cash discounts now offered at 39 percent of the stations contacted in the auto club's survey of 54 stations along main highways in Missouri and nearby Illinois and Kansas.

Thanksgiving Day travelers should have little trouble finding fuel along main highways, the survey shows. At most of the stations contacted in the survey said they will be open on Thanksgiving Day.

High and low fuel prices continue to show a wide variation. For example, full-service regular gas was priced between $1.17 and $1.45 per gallon. Motorists filling up with self-service unleaded fuel paid between $1.22 and $1.48 per gallon.

Investment seminar at SIUE
The Center for Urban and Environmental Research and Services (CUERS) at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will offer a seminar on Urban Investments: New Techniques in Single Family Residential Financing" on Dec. 1.

The one-day seminar is scheduled in the Maple-Dogwood Rooms of the University Center, meeting from 9 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. Registration is $30 and does not include lunch. A special rate is available for students. Deadline for registration is Nov. 22.

The seminar is one in a series of sessions offered to the public on investment in urban properties, according to Robert J. Mendelson, an associate professor and researcher for CUERS. This is the third year that the center has provided information on urban investment.

Speaker for the seminar will be John D. Fitzmaurice, vice president of General Electric Mortgage Insurance Corp. Fitzmaurice formerly was associated with the Mortgage Guaranty Insurance Corp.

As part of his presentation, Fitzmaurice will analyze the opportunities and shortcomings of various programs, builder buy-downs, negative amortization, and private placement of Mortgage-backed securities. He will also discuss future possibilities for the private mortgage insurance industry.

Interested persons may obtain additional information by contacting Robert Mendelson at 1-800-3082.

The ladies pant for Frank Runyeon

By NANCY ANDERSON
HOLLYWOOD — "Hey, buddy, keep your shirt on," is a popular admonition.

But it's seldom addressed to Frank Runyeon. At least not while he's working as a half-peeled hunk in "As The World Turns."

While winning his way as a soap stud, Runyeon is more apt to be asked to strip to the waist or jump into a bikini which he does to the enjoyment of a vast group of lady viewers who pant for his character, sexy, rotten Steve Andropoulos.

"I've never played a heavy before," says Runyeon who adds that he thinks of Steve as "a bad boy with a heart of gold."

"They'd intended him to be a bad boy with a heart of dirt who was supposed to be killed after six months."

However, the character so captured the hearts of housewives that he's still alive and scheming.

Runyeon who claims to have no idea why he got the part comes from roots which poorly prepared him to shuck down to the shorts in soap operas.

The son and grandson of surgeons, he admits, "I came from a very preppie background where there was no concept of wearing anything less conventional than madras Brooks Brothers shorts on the beach."

Like his forebearers, Frank was intended for a medical career until he convinced the family by fainting that the smell in his pediatrician's office and the sight of a needle nauseated him.

"That was the first hint that maybe a hospital wouldn't be my home," he claims. "It was embarrassing for my father to have the nurse call, 'Dr. Runyeon, you son has fainted again.'"

Frank was playing the piano at 3 and studying it at 6. Still, he didn't consider performing as a professional until he'd enrolled at Princeton and became involved with its Triangle Club.

After writing material for and appearing in the club's revues, he decided to try for a career in the entertainment industry.

His goal was to succeed as a stand-up comic and writer, despite a horrible experience at Dartmouth where he played to the most hostile audience he's ever encountered.

As a comedian, Runyeon has worked at assorted New York clubs including the Improvisation and the Comic Strip, and he continues to keep his act ready in case he's brought back by popular demand.

He and his wife, Annie, met when he was "about 17, and she was the new girl in town."

Though she was an actress in college, she's not one now but is, rather, "a real person," according to her husband.

While recognizing that "if your name is Andropoulos and you live in Oakdale, it's chancey," Runyeon doesn't expect to be written out of "As The World Turns" anytime soon.

"Steve's saving grace is his sense of humor," he says. "I'll stay with the show until I realize I'm not learning anything."

As for his wife's reaction to his displays of skin on "As The World Turns," they don't bother her.

"She watches 'The Guiding Light,'" Frank says.

"The New Odd Couple" isn't quite so odd as the old one, according to Ron Glass playing Felix in the ABC-TV series, the role previously assayed by Tony Randall.

"There aren't any ruffled aprons and feather dusters," says Ron who won his fans as the high-style and suave detective Harris on "Barney Miller."

Desmond Wilson, son in "Sanford and Son," plays Oscar, a character brought to home screens by Jack Klugman in the first TV rendition of Neil Simon's comedy.

Garry Marshall, executive producer of the new series says that he thinks he's ready for a vacation from television, a notion reinforced by the success of his recently released feature film, "Young Doctors in Love."

Marshall made his bow as a movie director in connection with the picture and, though he found the work arduous beyond his wildest expectations, he says he'd rather experiment with comedy for theatrical release in the future than channel his creativity into television.

He was willing to make "The New Odd Couple," he's explained, because he likes to develop new talent. And, while Wilson and Glass scarcely fit into that category, Marshall believes "The New Odd Couple" gives them a showcase totally different from any they've had before.

"So their talent can be stretched in a new way," he sums up.

Glass agrees that playing Felix is putting him to a test.

"I have lots of lines," he says. "This may advance me into character parts."

Ron never saw the Broadway hit, "The Odd Couple," nor the 1968 film and, in fact, has seen less than an hour of the first television series, not because he had anything against it but because things worked out that way.

"And I certainly don't want to see it now," he declares. "I'm, coming to 'The New Odd Couple' totally fresh."

Even so, he knows enough about the Randall-Klugman series to recognize sharp differences between it and the show he's doing.

In addition to having junked the apron Randall sometimes wore and the duster he fourished, Felix as played by Glass has cast off preoccupation with his ex-wife.

"I guess you say ours is a hotter version," Glass surmised. "I'm playing a fashion photographer who works with beautiful girls, and there's a lot of emphasis on his efforts to develop nice relationships."

"We're not going to have aprons and feather dusters. And, at the same time, we're not going to have hand-slapping."

No more ensembles for Morgan Stevens

By ALAN L. GANSBERG
HOLLYWOOD — MORGAN STEVENS is throwing himself fully into his new role as drama teacher David Reardon on NBC's "Fame," but the blond actor says his next series will not be an ensemble show.

"I don't mind doing series," he said. "But I wouldn't do another ensemble series. Of course, I'd like to do movies, mini-series. I have those ambitions."

Morgan had a featured role in "Bare Essence," the highly rated CBS mini-series that the network could make into a weekly offering. He's also Erin's husband on "The Waltons" special due on the air this Thanksgiving.

From Knoxville, Tenn., he's been able to work for 3½ of his four years in Hollywood, not a bad record for anyone. Although he bought his mother a home back in Knoxville and visited last summer, Morgan prefers the life in Hollywood, where he shares his apartment with his dog.

"I'm spending my time finding my character on 'Fame,'" he said. "We've changed the wardrobe and the makeup. I thought it was too straitlaced. They called it the 'used preppie look.'"

Morgan's character is supposed to be teaching because he has not been having much luck landing acting jobs. The hints are that as the series progresses, David Reardon may discover that teaching isn't so bad after all.

"They wanted the character to be a maverick, the guy that breaks all the rules," Morgan said. "I guess I am that guy. I know that I have a negative philosophy on most acting schools. And when I did meet an actual drama teacher from the High School for the Performing Arts in New York (where 'Fame' is supposed to take place) I got the feeling that I wouldn't approve of his methods and he wouldn't approve of mine."

Morgan would also like a chance to show more of what he can do on the series, and the producers are obliging him. He's currently writing a script for an episode. As a performer, he was able to dance on one episode, and then they asked him if he could sing.

"I told them I could sing, but I'm sort of limited to country-western," Morgan remarked. "So, they might just write an episode with a country-western motif to make it possible for me to show my voice. I think it would be great to have all these supposedly New Yorkers singing country-western."

Another Southerner who has made his mark throughout the country is KENNY ROGERS, whose problem is not fame, but what to do about what fame brings. Kenny and his wife so far have had no takers on their home, which is up for sale. The price tag? A cool $20 million.

MARK HAMILL is not skywalking in "Star Wars" these days, he's on stage. Mark is rehearsing to star in the Los Angeles company of "Amadeus," the Broadway and London hit in which he'll portray composer Mozart. He's even taking piano lessons to get a feel for the role.

NANCY DUSSAULT's character on "Too Close for Comfort" had a baby, and in real life she's seeking some marital bliss as well. Nancy is engaged to wed longtime boyfriend VAL MAYER. It's her second trip to the altar.

Making a rare television appearance is KIM NOVAK, who has signed for a part in the ABC mini-series "Malibu." She's left her farm in Northern California for a month in order to work in Hollywood.

CHRISTOPHER REEVE is telling friends that the recently completed "Superman III" is the best of the three movies made about the comic book hero. One of the many reasons? The performance of RICHARD PRYOR, says the star.

HOLLYWOOD HEADLINERS

already been translated into 11 languages.

Nancy when it's snack time.

Pearl Bailey will star in a live, two-hour telecast of the play "Member of the Wedding" on Dec. 20 over NBC-TV.

The drama will originate from the James K. Polk Theater in Nashville for the benefit of the Fred Coe Memorial Fund at Vanderbilt University.

The late Coe was a noted director and a native son of Nashville.

Nancy Morgan, the wife of TV's John Ritter, has taken her first acting job since the birth of their daughter seven months ago.

Nancy is starring in an upcoming episode of "Romance Theatre."

She's not letting the work keep her from nursing her baby.

A nurse keeps the child in a hotel room near the set, and takes the infant to

Blythe Danner will play a defense attorney in an upcoming CBS made-for-TV movie entitled "In Defense Of The Kids."

Sam Waterston will play her husband, while Joyce Van Patten and Georg Stanford Brown will also star.

Joe Stampley's hands and feet have been imprinted in cement outside Nashville's Country Music Wax Museum.

Although the Dolly Parton-Eddie Rabbit summer tour was canceled by Dolly's illness, the two will cross paths Nov. 19 in Atlantic City.

Eddie will be headlining at Harry's while Dolly will be at the Resorts International.

The Riders in the Sky have just been inducted into the Grand Of Opry.

Theirs was the 61st induction.

Salvation of Jack Scalia

By NANCY ANDERSON

HOLLYWOOD. — Not too long ago, Jack Scalia (his name rhymes with Maria) stood in a hotel window in Europe and nearly jumped out.

His was a close call. Today he's playing Rock Hudson's son in "The Devil Connection," an NBC series which joined the lineup this fall.

The close call came about through drug use, Scalia freely admits.

His salvation came about through a phone call to a friend, through a stay at a rehabilitation center, and, most of all, through a re-introduction to God.

When Jack's not acting, he works as a counselor to recovering alcoholics and drug addicts. "Since I am one."

When he was 14, he "started with pot, and then I graduated into everything else, and at the very end it was cocaine and beer. They were my two preferred drugs," Scalia says.

He cleaned himself up, "because I ran into a wall that's known as bottoming out."

A successful model, he was "doing a job in Munich to get enough money to go into a rehabilitation center."

"Because all the money I had made, which was quite a bit during the years I had modeled, I'd spent on drugs, alcohol, parties and whatever. Anyway, I found myself in an 18-story hotel at the window at 9 o'clock at night, and I knew I wasn't in the right place."

"To use an analogy, if you take a wooden match and burn it down until your fingers burn, and there's just a little tip of white wood left, that was what was left of my life."

"I think the Lord at that moment, stopped me. I realized, 'The buck stops here, or you're finished.'"

"The little piece of white wood that was left was about to burn up."

Perceiving his situation, Scalia drew away from the window and called a friend to ask for help.

The friend called back almost immediately and told him that, as soon as he could get home, he'd be admitted to a rehabilitation center.

To this point, Scalia hadn't thought much about God, but, in the rehabilitation center he became re-acquainted, or perhaps acquainted for the first time, with a loving Lord.

"When I was going to parochial school," he says, "I was taught about a God who would punish you, about a God to fear, and I didn't understand that, since we were supposed to have a Savior."

"But at the rehabilitation center I heard someone say that the Lord is all forgiving and all loving, and basically that was what turned me around."

"I was told, 'Jack, the Lord has forgiven you for the things you have done,' and when I heard that, I knew he was an OK guy."

"When I was doing my drugs and modeling, I would very seldom look into a mirror," Scalia remembers. "As a model you're supposed to look into a mirror to see how you look, but I never saw the person I really was."

"But one day after being out of the rehab center for a couple of weeks. ... I called back there and talked to some of my buddies on the floor I was on. I hung up the phone, lay down on my bed and was sort of going over what I'd talked to my buddies about, and all of a sudden I felt a tingling, a rush that went from my toes through the tip of my head. I felt that someone was shooting white light through me."

"I felt like I was almost levitating. ..."

"I don't know how long I was in that state, but I do know I found myself standing in front of a mirror smiling."

"This was the first time I'd smiled at myself in a mirror in I don't know how many years."

"I think this was the Lord's way of telling me that he was around, that I was OK and that I shouldn't worry about anything."

Scalia appreciates his professional good fortune.

He likes Rock Hudson. He likes the series they are doing. And he realized that a few years ago, even had he not been on drugs, he probably wouldn't be cast as a lead in a network series.

For he's one of a rediscovered breed, a handsome leading man type.

"All I've got to say about that," says Scalia, "is God bless Tom Selleck for what he's done."
